

Grand jury leaves Greathouse issue undecided

'SHANG' GREATHOUSE

"Recent developments" in the alleged bribery case Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber said he is preparing against Walter "Shang" Greathouse were responsible for putting the case on a "back burner" Thursday.

Weber had said he would ask a Madison County grand jury to indict Greathouse last Thursday, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District and a member of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals, for allegedly accepting $500 from Horseshoe Lake area landowner William Nichols, transmitted to Greathouse through Madison County Supervisor of Assessments Jim Barton. Both Barton and Greathouse are from Granite City.

A total of $1,000 is said to have been given to Barton; half went to Greathouse and then was returned to Barton, who gave the $1,000 to 1982 election campaign treasures.

The money allegedly was intended to elicit a favorable vote from Greathouse on Nichols' request to rezone property he had purchased. Greathouse voted against the rezoning.

Greathouse said he rejected a "deal" from Weber that Greathouse could avoid going to jail if he would resign from the zoning board. He cited his negative vote on Nichols' rezoning as proof of his innocence and said of the "deal," "No way."

Instead of either returning an indictment or a "no true bill," the grand jury Thursday exercised its third option, to do nothing on the matter. The third option was said to have been selected in a secret vote after the jury heard evidence presented by Weber.

Weber said he concurred with the grand jury's action, saying, "...I, myself, preferred to leave it this way."

He told the Press-Record Friday, "I believe that this (Greathouse) case cannot be settled until or before the Barton case." Barton already has been indicted for allegedly transmitting money from Nichols to Greathouse. Nichols has been granted immunity in the case and will not be charged, Weber says.

On Thursday afternoon, members of the grand jury told reporters that they felt intimidated because they learned that Gerry Bassett, an employee of Barton, had obtained a list of the jury members' names, phone numbers and home addresses and they feared Barton might use the list to increase their property assessments.

Bassett, who was among the witnesses Thursday, said he obtained the list on his own only to determine if there were going to be any "familiar faces" in the jury when he testified. He said Barton did not instruct him to obtain such a list.

The incident will result in a change of procedure for the county. Formerly, the circuit clerk's office issued press releases containing the names and addresses of all grand jurors when they were sworn in.

The names will still be released, but the addresses will be kept secret in the future, Weber pledged.

Cueto allegations 'bother' him, state's attorney says

Belleville lawyer Amiel Cueto has received no formal reaction since issuing a harsh five-page letter criticizing State's Attorney Don W. Weber to county board members and other officials, but Weber told the Press-Record Friday that one allegation in the letter, particularly, "bothers" him.

The letter was distributed a few days before Weber was to seek an indictment in an alleged bribery case against Walter "Shang" Greathouse, a member of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals and president of the Metro-East Sanitary District (Related story above).

Cueto, no newcomer to challenging Weber, already had pending a malicious prosecution suit against the state's attorney on behalf of a Collinsville resident acquitted of rape in September, 1981. The timing of Cueto's letter also makes him a belated entry in the Greathouse controversy.

Cueto has been an attorney for MESD for about two years, and that position, plus his relationship to Greathouse, "certainly has the appearance of impropriety," according to Weber, in view of the recent letter leveled against Weber.

According to Cueto, there is "no connection whatsoever" to the letter and either the Greathouse investigation or the previously filed suit against Weber.

Cueto's letter is allegedly based on comments made by Marvin Darling, former administrative assistant in the State's Attorney's Office, to Cueto on Jan. 5. As a result of that conversation, Cueto stated he was forced under the Illinois Bar Association Code of Professional Responsibility to outline allegations naming Weber in the unfair prosecution (of Cueto's client), the alleged intimidation of state's attorney

Formation of a plan to trim school costs begins tonight

By BILL WINTER
Granite City School Supt. B. J. Davis thinks cutbacks for 1983-84 may total $4 million to $5 million. The decision will be made by the Board of Education, possibly on Feb. 1.

The board will meet at 7:30 tonight to begin assimilating studies and comments into a specific plan of action affecting buildings, programs and personnel.

Addressing the January prayer breakfast held at Charlie's Restaurant last week, the superintendent outlined past economy measures and reviewed the program reductions that are being studied for possible implementation.

The breakfast group formally endorsed efforts by the Board of Education to curb spending and reduce debt.

Davis said the schools avoided most borrowing prior to 1977, except for construction programs and occasional cash flow problems.

Since then, debt to help meet operating costs has begun to accumulate: the district was $3.6 million behind and is adding another $4.1 million debt this year for total borrowing of $7.7 million, he said.

Responding to questions, the superintendent said honorable dismissals are made on the basis of seniority within job categories and without regard to an employee's place of residence.

He acknowledged that dismissals of local heads of families could cause some of those families to move away, further reducing enrollment and related state funding. Davis said loss of elementary music and physical education programs in other districts has not created secondary schools' sports and music programs, although some local residents fear this would be the result.

He added that educators and other authorities across the nation differ regarding optimum class size and school size, including Education Research Association officials.

An excellent teacher is likely to succeed in his or her efforts despite large classes, while an ineffective teacher might fail even with a small class, the large breakfast gathering was told.

No real "baby boom" seems likely; grade schools may add a few students after 1985 but junior highs and high schools foresee no enrollment gains until the 1990s, Davis said.

Despite citizens' suggestions that unneeded schools be sold and the proceeds applied to the district's debt, school officials want to keep some facilities "warehoused" and available for reopening if the local employment and population expand, he asserted.

Of four school buildings closed in the late 1970s, two were sold and two were rented for educational use, the group was told, "warehousing" could and ideally would include temporary oc-

GC 'disaster status' is denied

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
Granite City's initial call for $400,000 in flood disaster aid to repair major sewer breaks here has been rejected, but hope remains in an appeal being readied for presentation to Gov. James Thompson.

A public information officer from the Springfield Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (ESDA) has confirmed that Madison County's request has been turned down, but said government officials still are assessing the situation.

"The door is not yet closed," according to the official. At risk to local municipalities is the loss of 75 percent federal grants to repair publicly-owned facilities and utilities damaged by December flooding.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the Granite City Council last week he had unofficially been notified that Madison County was not going to be declared a disaster area. But Friday, Ed Harris, ESDA county director, said County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer had

Higher power bills may turn street lights off

Granite City may have to darken some street lights as the result of the latest Illinois Power $106 million rate increase granted this month by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

City officials and others, meanwhile, are continuing to circulate a petition asking for an April 12 advisory referendum calling for the election of ICC members. The petition drive faced an afternoon deadline today.

Sixth Ward Alderman Stephen Saltich, chairman of the aldermanic lights committee and instrumental in the petition drive, and Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur discussed the city's $240,000 annual electrical bill last week with Carl Mathias, local IP service area manager. As a result, the company is preparing a street light plot to pinpoint locations where lights could be eliminated.

Alderman Casmer Skubish, First Ward, suggested the council consider shutting off at least 10 percent of the city's street lights to help balance the estimated $25,000 increase in electrical utilities. His guess stems from the average 10.2 percent customer increase granted IP.

The alderman is aware, though, that his proposal to decrease the number of street lights might be met with hostility, since lights represent safety to some residents.

"They say street lights are a deterrent to crime and that's true," Skubish commented. He has recommended aldermen look for areas in their wards where lights appear to be "clustered" or located too close together.

First Ward Alderman Everett Morien said he had worked in the past to put lights back in his ward, after IP completed a five-year redesign of the city street lights.

Saltich, who received the backing of the council on the ICC petition referendum, is worried the drive to place the ICC question on the ballot might not get the approximately 4,700 required signatures to win a place on the April 12 ballot. The alderman has collected 500 signatures.

City Clerk Robert Stevens said his office has received only about 100 additional signatures, meaning the drive is several hundred short of its goal.

"There seems to be an apathy among the voters after the IP request was granted," Stevens said. His office was expected to remain open until the 5 p.m. deadline today to accept petitions, which must be presented to Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles by Feb. 10.

Last year, the city had collected more than 9,000 signatures protesting the proposed rate increase, but the spontaneous momentum that existed then has failed to blossom this time around.

Urge leadership on SIUE funds

"The issue before Illinois is leadership," President Earl Lazerson of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville declared to members of the university community at a mid-January standing-room-only discussion of major institutional issues.

Leadership is needed, Lazerson said, "to inform citizens that increased taxation may be necessary to feed, clothe and shelter the stricken and to provide educational opportunity essential to our future."

This was the conclusion reached after an analysis of the current budgetary situation facing SIUE and the state. He analyzed several scenarios, depending on different estimates of the tax shortfall now facing the governor and General Assembly.

After dealing with current realities, Lazerson joined with SIU System Chancellor Kenneth Shaw in strongly endorsing budget recommendations for fiscal 1984. He said the Illinois Board of Higher Education would attempt to influence the governor in setting priorities for his Feb. 8 State of the State message.

There are two themes in the rationale for the July 1983-June 1984 recommendations, Lazerson said. First, there is emphasis on funds to strengthen the higher education programs that contribute most directly to the state's economic health, such as engineering, computer science, business and technology.

These concerns are vital if higher education is to help Illinois recover economically and build toward prosperity over the long term, he said.

The second theme was the need to maintain high quality. Virtually no additional state dollars have been provided since 1981. Tuition increases have placed greater demand on student aid. Community colleges have eaten into enrollments.

Inflation has eroded support lines. Faculty and staff salaries have become less and less competitive with the private sector and government. Concerted action is demanded to prevent further decline in quality of learning, research and public service, Lazerson asserted.

The IBHE proposes an increase of $86 million for higher education, 10.3 percent more than in 1982-83.

It provides funds on a 90 percent personnel base to annualize the cost of a 2.7 percent salary increase appropriated for 1982-83.

A major salary increase of eight percent on a 95 percent personnel base seeks to offset future inflation and restore purchasing power and relative competitiveness of SIUE salaries. It is estimated to cost $48 million statewide.

General cost increases of six percent also are recommended. That amount, $8 million, will offset currently projected increases, but it will not address a backlog of needs accumulated in recent years, particularly in library materials, Lazerson related.

The total IBHE recommendation for SIUE is $49,290,800, a 10.1 percent increase. That recommendation is the best in a number of years from IBHE, according to the president.

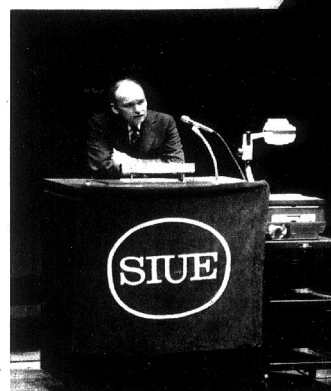

In order to implement the budget as proposed, Lazerson noted that at least $1,565,000 will have to be reallocated, which represents a serious problem. "If we are to secure these dollars," Lazerson said, "either revenues must be increased or higher education must receive a larger proportion of the current state resources."

Given the facts that attend the present Illinois economy, Lazerson contended, "tax reform — to provide basic needs to a sorely distressed population in the short term, and guarantee economic recovery over the long term is the only realistic path to follow."

"We must help all to encourage the governor and legislature to do the right thing," he said.

UNIVERSITY TALK on potential cuts in this year's budget and Illinois Board of Higher Education proposals for 1983-84. SIUE President Earl Lazerson used an overhead projector to illustrate statistical material to the audience in the Communications Building theater.

He outlined a campaign to achieve this by building maximal public support. Direct meetings with legislators, press conferences and contacts with interested organized groups are included in the planning.

The governor indicated in his inaugural address that this year would be a "now or never situation," Lazerson said. "We must help all to make it make it now."

He added, "A society which will not pay the tariff for transmitting its civilization and values, nor pay the cost of preparing future generations for productive work, is bankrupt."

Concluding by describing the stakes for SIUE, Lazerson noted that they constituted "some great opportunities brilliantly disguised as unsolvable problems."

"As never before, we have been placed on our mettle to determine how best to apply the resources with which we shall in all probability have to work."

"The pressures which require a preoccupation with planning issues, including the questions of the most efficient restructuring of the institution and its programs, must not and will not obscure the essential purpose for which we are here."

Officers halted a vehicle operated by Jimmy Joe Ortiz, 54, of 1734 Poplar St., at 27th Street and Madison Avenue, and placed him under arrest.

He was charged with criminal damage to property and battery on complaints signed by Miss Wickam.

Ortiz appeared in the Granite City court and pleaded innocent. He was released on a $5,000 recognizance bond.

Madisonian charged in murder case

By ED GURNEY

A man from Madison was arrested last week in connection with a home invasion and murder Dec. 9 at the Archview Condominiums in Collinsville.

Terry Wilson, 27, was charged by the Madison County state's attorney's office with murder, armed robbery and burglary. He is being held in the Madison County jail.

Wilson was allegedly one of two men who forced their way into the townhouse being rented by Gary Rook, 31. The two allegedly took the wallets of Rook, his brother and cousin, took some other cash and shot Rook in the head at close range. Rook was pronounced dead at Oliver Anderson Hospital about two hours later.

A second suspect is still being sought. Police say they have only a vague description of the suspect.

The incident was alleged by police to have been drug-related.

Wilson was arrested by agents of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation at a service station in Washington Park. He offered no resistance.

The arrest followed an investigation by the DCI and Collinsville police. Randy Rushing of the DCI said it appears robbery was the motive.

Police declined to say what led to the arrest.

Collinsville police Detective Harold "Skip" Mandeville headed the initial investigation. The DCI was later called in, and has had as many as six to eight agents working on the case, Rushing said.

According to police reports, there were five people in the townhouse at the time of the incident: Rook and his wife, brother, sister-in-law and cousin.

Two men came to the door of the townhouse about 6:30 p.m. and forced their way in after Rook answered the door, police said. The people in the townhouse were reportedly ordered upstairs and were told to lie on the floor of a bedroom.

Police were told Rook was shot when he was asked for money and told the intruders he did not have any. Rook's brother reportedly fired a gun at the intruders as they fled.

Neighbors said they saw two men driving off in a green pickup truck. The men were in the apartment on the floor of a bedroom.

Rook was taken to the hospital by a Collinsville fire department ambulance. He was pronounced dead at the hospital at 8:28 p.m.

The others in the apartment initially told police they did not know the intruders.

Rook, unemployed, had moved in the townhouse long. Neighbors said the Rooks had moved in about two months before.

Neighbors said dirty sheets were used for curtains in the townhouse and there was almost no furniture.

Rook's body was cremated two days after the murder and the remains were shipped to West Memphis, Ark.

'Disaster status' denied

decided to appeal the decision. The appeal must be sent directly to the governor, who then make the decision whether or not to pass it on the federal authorities.

"Granite City is, by far, the disaster, by dollars, in Madison County," Schuler explained at the city's last council session. "We're going to make all kinds of effort to get Madison County declared a (federal) disaster area."

His efforts are expected to include personal appeals to state and federal legislators for support. If unsuccessful, the mayor predicted the city will be "in all kinds of trouble." The projected $800,000 plus sewer repair costs comes at a time the city is considering borrowing to cover its regular expenses. The aldermanic finance committee has set a 6 p.m. meeting Tuesday to discuss the city's money problems.

William Eisele, regional ESDA coordinator, also working with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), said that about two weeks ago a FEMA inspector surveyed supposed flooding damage to Granite City sewers and Metro-East Sanitary District pumps. Based on that inspection, Madison County was not included among a list of recent counties eligible for federal assistance. Residents with private property damage are being assisted through other programs.

Eisele thinks the negative federal decision was related to the scattered dates fewer breaks occurred here, and to the fact that neither the city nor county chose to declare themselves disaster status. A 1975 state law allows municipalities to declare a separate disaster status for themselves, according to Eisele, who believes the city's decision not to seek disaster status puts its claim in question.

The county appeal will have to include the exact number of Granite City sewer lines which broke during the official flood disaster period from Dec. 2, 1982, to Jan. 3, 1983.

Three of the city's sewer breaks, however, happened before the Dec. 2 date and the last took place Jan. 16. Nevertheless, Mayor Schuler has cited a flood-induced high groundwater table as the most probable cause for most of the city's sewer collapses.

Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield lists the breaks and times of the occurrences as: 2800 block of Lincoln Avenue, approximately 24 months ago; 12 Terrace Lane, approximately 18 months ago; 2900 block of Faith Avenue, Nov. 26; 2900 block of East 23rd Street, Dec. 25; 2600 block of Faith Avenue, Dec. 29, and Boyle and Spalding avenues, Jan. 16.

In lieu of major sewer repairs, emergency measures now being taken include the use of shallow plastic lines to pump sewage from one manhole to another to bypass breaks. The cost of the constant pumping is rapidly draining the entire budget the city has set aside for sewer maintenance.

Warfield, the mayor, and city engineer are now exploring less costly alternatives for the extensive repairs.

The city has experienced serious sewer break problems since 1961, when six costly breaks occurred. In 1969, a rehabilitation program for 17 breaks cost about $1.4 million, not including the cost of bypass pumping. In the aftermath of the 1973 flood, the city expended about $1.6 million more in repairs.

Cueto letter

employees and of Weber office carrying a sometime "ghost" employee.

"This Mr. Darling came to me out of the blue. It's all uninvolved," Cueto said of any possible tie-in to his relaying of the alleged Darling conversation to all members of the Madison County Board, which also is studying the Greathouse matter.

In that case, Weber has urged the county board to fire James W. Barton, county supervisor of assessments, and has sent the board information concerning possible Greathouse participation.

A Madison County grand jury already has indicted Barton twice for allegedly accepting $1,000 from William Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area landowner, and relaying $500 to Greathouse, who returned the money to Barton. Barton apparently then donated the money to the election campaigns of others.

Nichols was supposedly hoping to influence the MESD and zoning actions. Nichols, who has been granted immunity from prosecution in the case, was allegedly attempting to expedite the sale and hauling of dirt from his newly-purchased farm to a nearby landfill.

As an attorney representing MESD St. Clair County interests, Cueto said he was not involved in any transactions involving Nichols, whose property is located in Madison County. As far as Cueto's personal relationship with Greathouse, Cueto said, "I don't see Shang that much."

Cueto's dealing with Greathouse and the MESD has included a request by the attorney that his brother be hired as a temporary MESD employee last summer. He was.

Cueto also issued an opinion last April declaring valid a MESD board resolution establishing a special MESD expense account for Greathouse. The resolution, passed March 26, 1982, approved paying a fixed sum for the time and expenses of Greathouse in his role equal to MESD executive director. Greathouse is prevented from acting as official director by state law, which dictates the position be filled by a registered professional engineer.

The board set the sum at $1,500 per month, retroactive to January, 1982, and additionally furnished Greathouse a car.

Cueto said he receives only about $122 every two weeks as one of five sanitary district attorneys.

"I don't care if its noted or not noted," Cueto commented of his current association with both the sanitary district and Greathouse. "I would have done it anyway (written the letter)," Cueto explained.

Besides sending the letter to county board members, copies were sent to Chief Circuit Court Judge A. Andreas Matoesian and the Illinois Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission for review.

Cueto said he has received "compliments from dozens of people" about the letter and noted a "stack of messages three inches thick" awaited him on his desk Friday.

In response to the allegations, Weber said, the accusation that bothers him most is that he knowingly prosecuted an innocent man.

Cueto's letter claims that Weber had proceeded with the prosecution of the Collinsville resident charged with rape, even though Weber knew the man to be innocent.

"Even if a prosecutor wants to get somebody," Weber responded, he must first take the case through a preliminary hearing. Weber said, when he is accused of improperly prosecuting an innocent man, Cueto is "really saying the county did."

Weber has taken 32 cases to trial as state's attorney and received 29 convictions. "Of that number, none of those convicted 'said they did it,'" according to Weber.

But, Weber said, the ultimate judge of his actions will be the citizens of Madison County. "Every four years, the public has the right to make a decision whether or not the state's attorney has prosecuted innocent people or not and done a good job."

Q. How does the Federal credit controls imposed over the last few years affect me as a consumer?

A. The controls have added restrictions to some bank loans which, in the past, may have been rather routine. The major effect they have on the consumer is to cause him to buy more wisely. A few suggestions to help in this area include making certain your credit record is clean. Make all installment payments promptly. Avoid incurring finance charges as much as possible when using credit cards. Also, look for ways to save money. This is an old sermon, but the more you look, the more you'll find — many easy and painless. For example, take advantage of discount and refund offers and other buying incentives. If used prudently, they can be worthwhile. Another story you've heard before, but which bears repeating: Try serious — to put at least 5% of your earnings into some form of savings account. If you feel you may require a loan in the future, put the savings where you are most likely to request the loan.

Jobless debt, interest soaring

The trillion dollar federal debt may make all other obligations pale into insignificance, but Illinoisans ought to give attention to their $2 billion unemployment compensation debt. With Quad-City unemployment last fall at 21.2 percent and many other areas in the same situation, the problem is serious and getting worse.

Our state "reformed" its unemployment insurance system in 1981 with $497 million in benefit and tax changes. But the recession has continued for another 18 months, reducing jobs and further burdening the system.

Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Ohio each has a jobless insurance debt of more than $2 billion; the Illinois figure is $2,070,000,000. Regular benefits are funded by employer payments to a trust fund. Since 1974, these revenues have failed to meet the payout levels, leading to borrowing from someone whose own pockets are a bit tattered—Uncle Sam.

Illinois employers want stricter criteria on payments to injured workers, evaluation of arbitrators, and expedited court processes. They note that, since April 1982, jobless funds borrowed by states carry a 10 percent annual interest charge. By October 1983, Illinois' interest payments could total $60 million.

Labor, business and state leaders conferred last week, followed by a meeting between the Illinois, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin governors with Senate Finance Chairman Robert Dole and then a session between Illinois legislative and gubernatorial representatives.

Dole said states with shrinking job bases have a "crushing burden" that may require more federal help. His committee will hold hearings on this starting Thursday. States' inability to keep up with the program could cost them $1 billion in interest payments alone in 1984, adding to the nation's deficit in one form or another.

Michigan Gov. James Blanchard opposes what he says amounts to a tax on states with high unemployment. "We're being penalized twice. The interest charge is forcing states to tax heavily the same businesses they desperately need in order to achieve economic recovery."

Sen. Dole backs the system and says it must be preserved despite its failure to cope with a severe recession. But he does not dispute Illinois Gov. James Thompson's comment that "income maintenance programs are becoming national in scope and increasingly will become national in solution."

State education showdown soon

As Harold E. Briggs, Madison County regional school superintendent, is saying in letters to the governor and local state legislators, this area relies on Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to "not only train our youth but to furnish guidance for business, industry, local governments and a multitude of other enterprises."

"Southern Illinois University cannot be expected to successfully serve us unless drastic steps are taken to assure adequate funding. To expect this university to operate with about $8 million less money for this year could damage the quantity and quality of services rendered."

"I am fully aware of what our state is going through during this time of recession, and I appreciate the strong and effective steps which have been taken to manage the state's economy."

School plan formation

cupancy of closed buildings for other than District Nine use, Davis added.

Elementary classes average 23 students now and are being reduced to an average of 30, he said; such figures are separate from special education, for which smaller numbers are assigned to a classroom.

Voicing sorrow that much misinformation is being discussed by the public, Davis said conditions are not substandard or overcrowded at any of the 18 schools, including Logan.

Consultants have been contacted and have aided in lowering the costs of the number of school programs, the superintendent said.

Although none was hired to evaluate overall school system, Davis said, further reduction of personnel is necessary, since about 87 percent of the district's funds go for salaries and fringe benefits, Davis commented.

When members of the audience tried to establish whether employees were asked to accept pay cuts, the speaker said the district neither can nor wishes to "negotiate in a fish bowl" but that it has explored the possibility of such economies. With current agreements expiring June 30, some bargaining already has occurred.

Davis said the school board is being guided by accurate financial information and, as the responsible authority, must strive to properly manage the schools, rather than "having to shut down in March" due to misguided planning and unjustified overcrowding at schools.

He conceded there may be a "credibility gap" in the public's perception of the available money, but emphasized there are no hidden funds or reserves.

Davis rejected the idea of a voter referendum at this time, saying the district can hardly ask for more money to help finance operation of 18 buildings when only about 60 percent of the space is being utilized.

He praised cooperation by members of Building Service Employees Local 98 in the district's current effort to limit future custodial and maintenance costs.

"While Johnson School's design is unusual, tests show the absence of most interior walls has not hampered learning or concentration," Davis told the gathering.

"In view of predictions that high technology will dominate the future world, Americans today may be penny wise and pound foolish" in failing to find adequate financing for elementary and secondary schools.

"If you believe we have serious problems today, think how bad it could be 10 or 15 years from now when many of the present teachers will have retired."

"Our average teacher age now is 44."

years and increasing. But we are unable at this time to hire many of the new teachers who would have maintained the high level of experienced faculty members."

He advocated continuation of some extracurricular activities, noting that they are of both educational and motivational value. He disagreed with a contention that the school system adds its overall costs by unwise purchase of cheap supplies.

Prayers were offered by the Rev. Alan Reiter and the Rev. Don Pierson. Drew Karandjoff presided and guests included State Sen. Sam Vadala and State Rep. Sam Wolf.

The breakfast series is arranged by Granite City Education, Inc., a nonprofit sponsor was St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The school district has announced the possibility of closing Granite City High School North, Grigsby Junior High School, Prather Junior High School and up to four elementary schools.

The district's board of education approval are to be made effective at the end of the present school year, June 1983.

A public hearing for comments and suggestions was held Jan. 17. Data from the hearing and other ideas and facts were prepared by the board this weekend in preparation for tonight's discussion.

More than 100 dismissal notices may be sent out March 22. The dismissals will apply to a staff that currently totals 843 (572 teachers, 85 custodians, 59 cafeteria employees, 54 secretaries, 35 administrators, construction and maintenance trades employees, 10 teaching assistants, seven non-certificated administrators and supervisors and three campus monitors).

The district's cost analysis does not say which schools could be closed. But building capacities show that if only one high school and one junior high school are operated, only South High for ninth through 12th graders and Coolidge Junior High (for seventh and eighth graders) would be large enough to accommodate all the secondary students.

New approaches to housing seventh and eighth graders also are a possibility, but were not made a part of the 12 cost reduction possibilities submitted by Supt. Davis.

President Donald Stucke asked for background information last week on assigning eighth graders to high schools, and Board Member Thomas Miolsky suggested statistical projections of the number of ninth graders to junior high schools.

Estimated savings from various school consolidations are based on net reduction in 1983-84.

In the first year, the total amount

"However, the time has come for tax reform in Illinois. People within our state, I feel, will support tax reform—even if we do pay a modest increase in taxes—to provide adequate funding for universities and other educational endeavors within our state."

As Supt. Briggs sees it, there is merit in the Illinois Board of Higher Education's budget recommendations for 1983-84. No doubt he and other educators also would prefer the elementary and secondary State Education Board's view of adequate funds, in contrast to the level favored by the executive branch.

Economy-minded taxpayers want no upward revision of taxation but most might concede that, at some point, such an attitude could become counterproductive.

If education truly is to remain one of Illinois' top priorities, the issue must be considered and dealt with at Springfield soon.

Nameeki school big, well-equipped, flexible

To the Editor:
The Nameeki PTA is aware of the difficult situation faced in trying to cut costs.

We understand how necessary it is to operate within a budget but to provide the best education possible.

We agree with the School Board, American Federation of Teachers, Citizens' Advisory Committee, etc., that the most logical alternative is to close buildings. However, we would regret seeing cutbacks in the curriculum in the school system.

The faculty members are a great asset, but the building itself has many advantages. A new boiler system was installed only a couple of years ago.

The school is large, with 21 classrooms. It has a beautiful wood floor and regular maintenance basketball goals. The stage and bleachers are a rare thing in an elementary school in this area.

Although the original building is 57 years old, the newest addition is only 18 years old and only a few maintenance jobs are needed to the building and its contents. Let us hope that the new year will bring about a solution to the economic situation in Granite City and our country, and that our school system will not be the object of any further financial burdens.

These years are formative years in that students are faced with planning careers, taking the right courses to make the most of their high school years, and other big decisions.

These students are not adults yet, and the average high school student needs individual attention at certain times.

As a teacher of high school students for 17 years and a parent, I feel strongly about the above opinions. I know the board faces difficult decisions, but am confident that it will make intelligent ones.

Reasons not to merge the two high schools

To the Editor:
As a taxpayer in District Nine and an educator in another school district, I feel it is my duty and privilege to voice the following opinion.

I strongly urge the Granite City Board of Education to drop the idea of merging the two high schools. The problems with such a merger are far too numerous to mention here — little or no individual attention, vast discipline and drug problems, large busing, remodeling to accommodate handicapped persons and fire and safety laws, etc.

I urge the board and administrators to explore the closing of two or more junior high schools and placing the 7th graders or 7th and 8th graders in the elementary schools.

I realize that whatever changes are made will have quite an effect on everyone. But I believe these middle years would realize the least negative effect.

We all know that the elementary years are very important as far as individual attention and getting a good start in their school years are concerned. However, the years in secondary school are just as important.

These years are formative years in that students are faced with planning careers, taking the right courses to make the most of their high school years, and other big decisions.

These students are not adults yet, and the average high school student needs individual attention at certain times.

Guilty plea in abduction

With Wayne Allen Moore, is pleading guilty Friday, the trial of Don Benny Anderson, 42, is beginning this week. They and Matthew M. Moore, 20, were arrested in connection with the eight-day August 1982 kidnapping of Dr. and Mrs. Hector Zevallos.

Wayne Moore, of New Caney, Texas, submitted his plea in the U.S. District Court, Alton. He will be sentenced Feb. 18 by Judge William L. Beatty, who told the defendant he could face 20 years in prison.

He pleaded guilty to one count of conspiring to obstruct interstate commerce by threat or violence.

A count of attempting to obstruct commerce will be dismissed in return for the plea. Interstate commerce refers to attempts to force the doctor to close his Hope Clinic for Women, located in Granite City.

The trio, abortion opponents, claimed to be the "Army of God." Moore's brother, Matthew, also of New Caney, is awaiting trial. Anderson, of Pearland, Texas, will help question witnesses testifying in his trial, which is opening today in Alton, according to defense attorney Wayne Schoenberg. One of the witnesses is likely to be Wayne Moore.

Evidence was read Friday by U.S. Attorney Frederick Hess. Wayne Moore then admitted participating in the abduction.

He said he hid a tape recording made by Dr. Zevallos and also a 44-page ransom letter in a restroom building chimney in Forest Park, St. Louis, Aug. 15. Wayne Moore told the FBI by telephone where to find the tape and the letter, Hess said.

He also was the one who held Dr. Zevallos at gunpoint after the doctor had been lured outside his home on the pretense of looking at property that was for sale.

Wayne Moore said the other two then entered the home and abducted Zevallos' wife, Rosalie Jean. Hess asserted that the doctor was told his abductors wanted a "quick $200,000 to $300,000" and that they also were considering killing the couple. The two were released unharmed near their home Aug. 20 after the physician pretended to agree to demands that he close the clinic.

The FBI says Anderson's fingerprint was found on the ransom letter and that all three men's fingerprints were detected at the former munitions bunker in the Springfield, Ill., area where the couple was taken.

A four-page plea agreement signed Friday by Wayne Moore was ordered sealed.

Judge Beatty said it is up to Moore and his attorney to convince the judge there is a basis for leniency on what Beatty considers a serious offense.

Prosecutors may recommend leniency under the Federal Youth Corrections Act because of Moore's age and lack of a criminal record. Moore is believed to have given additional information to FBI agents this weekend.

Schoenberg said Moore's guilty plea complicates the defense but that Anderson is innocent and will contest the charges in court.

Blame icy roads in 23 traffic mishaps

Slush and ice on road surfaces apparently were the culprits in an unusually high number of traffic accidents to which police officers responded on Friday and Saturday in Granite City, Madison and Venice.

A total of 38 accidents involving vehicles was reported during the two-day period, with 23 mishaps attributed to slick pavement.

Few injuries resulted from the accidents, however, with none of those being reported seriously hurt.

Several inanimate objects sustained damage, along with vehicles, included a fire hydrant at 29th Place and Avenue D, a power pole at 14th and State Streets, a bus stop sign at 2500 Pontoon Road, a telephone pole at 11th and Myrtle Avenues, and a traffic signal light on Illinois Route 3 at 4th and Myrtle Avenues.

A vehicle operated by Joseph A. Thompson, 30, of 622 Broadway, Venice, reportedly struck and damaged a fire hydrant when he lost control of his auto on ice and left the roadway on Nameoki Drive at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

The motorist allegedly continued driving on, not knowing he had struck the hydrant. His vehicle was located by an officer at a residence in the 3000 block of Sinclair Avenue a few moments later.

Thompson's speech was slurred, it was alleged, and an odor of alcohol was noticeable, reports said. He was taken to police headquarters and agreed to take a breathalyzer test.

Thompson was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and was released at 11:30 a.m. Saturday after posting his driver's license and a $102 cash bond.

Vehicles traveling in opposite directions on the Venice viaduct on Broadway at 4 p.m. Saturday were involved in a collision when the eastbound auto of Charlie L.

Walton, 53, of 205 Roosevelt Drive, Eagle Park, began sliding sideways and went into a westbound vehicle driven by Barry D. Hill, 22, of 101 Ewing St., Madison.

Hill, whose auto turned around, suffered a minor injury, the report notes.

James W. Pyle, 39, of 2311 Hodges Ave., was injured in an accident involving three vehicles at 5:25 p.m. Saturday on Madison Avenue at 27th Street.

The Pyle car was behind a vehicle operated by Willis H. Sipes, 47, of 160 Briarwood Drive, who was halted to make a left turn, when a third auto struck Pyle's car in the rear, pushing into the Sipes vehicle. The third vehicle then left the scene, the drivers' police.

Vehicles operated by Kathleen M. Heth, 31, of 3933B Village Lane, and Alfred M. Stark, 45, of 9227 Pershing Blvd., collided at Iowa and E. 28th Streets at 3 p.m. Saturday.

A passenger in the Stark vehicle, Lynn C. Epley, 23, of Jennings, Mo., reportedly was injured.

At 10 p.m. Saturday, an officer alleged seeing a vehicle operated by Lawrence T. Shipley, 59, of 427 Broadway, Venice, turn off Oriole Street onto Broadway and spin around in the roadway.

Shipley's auto was stopped on McKinley Avenue in front of the Starline Motel. The driver allegedly emitted a strong odor of alcohol.

He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, careless driving and driving while his license was revoked.

Two youths came close to causing a serious accident at 11:30 p.m. Friday, when the pair threw snowballs at a vehicle operated by Richard Link, 2553 E. 27th St. The ice-packed snowballs smashed the auto's windshield and the youths then ran from the scene. The incident occurred at 29th Street and Madison Avenue, Link told police the next day.

Officers first went to a mobile home park at Nameoki Road and 23rd Street, where a fight reportedly was taking place, and reported seeing a man run from the scene.

They searched the area and Jett was discovered lying next to a dwelling in the 2700 block of Lincoln Avenue. The St. Louis man reportedly ran again and was found beneath the truck and arrested.

Steelers falter in fourth quarter; finish fourth

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

SPARTA — Granite City North looked like it would finish third at the Sparta Mid-Winter Classic Saturday, but the Steelers ran out of gas too soon.

The Steelers led the hosting Sparta Bulldogs by two to four points for 27 minutes, but Sparta came back in the final five minutes to defeat North 65-53 in the third place game.

Trico, which defeated North Friday in overtime in a semi-final game, won the championship. The Steelers defeated Marissa in the title game.

Du Quoin bounced back from the death of 6-4 forward Darrell Anders to defeat Waterloo for the consolation championship.

"Sparta wore us out inside, and number 50 (Rob Collins) took us out of the game with a couple of big rebounds and a couple of off-balanced shots," North coach Bill Ohlendorf said.

Collins proved to be the big key in the Steelers' loss, scoring 20 points, 10 of those in the fourth quarter.

The Steelers were without the services of leading scorer Steve Trittschuh for the second straight game, but the Steelers once again took up the slack.

Both teams traded baskets for three quarters, and North was able to keep up with the quicker and taller Bulldogs.

Brian Levin, who took over much of Trittschuh's load in the semi-final game, did the same in the third place game. Levin appeared to be unstoppable as he scored 10 of North's 18 first quarter points.

Levin slowed down, but the other Steelers started picking up the load through the third quarter. At the end of the quarter, North led 43-41.

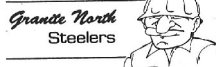

Sparta controlled the tempo of the game in the fourth quarter. North took a 49-45 lead with 5:12 left, but in a minute, the Steelers lost the lead.

Collins pulled Sparta to 49-47 with a pair of free throws. Sparta forced a North turnover and took a shot. Collins took an off-balanced stab at the ball and put it in to tie the game.

Larry Beattie then made a basket and two free throws, and Winston Henry scored to give Sparta a 55-49 lead with 3:23 left in the game.

Sparta switched from its running game to a four corners stall, forcing North to foul to try to get the ball back. North's foulings only put the Steelers farther behind.

In the final three minutes of the game, Sparta made six of eight free throws in addition to two field goals. On the other hand, North only scored four points in the final three minutes.

"Collins just killed us. (Mike) Gerlach was supposed to be their best player, but Collins did some big things in the fourth quarter that really hurt us," Ohlendorf said.

Another thing that hurt the Steelers was free throw shooting. Sparta made 17 of 22 tried at the line while North only had four free throws for the game.

"Free throws had to be the difference in the game because I think we were pretty even from the field," Ohlendorf said.

In fact, North made 26 field goal compared to 24 baskets for Sparta.

Ohlendorf hoped the Steelers could salvage third place out of the tournament, but he was pleased with some of the things he saw out of the Steelers.

"I thought everybody made up for Eaver out there. Brian did it Friday and again tonight. Scott Cant really helped us today too," he said.

"This is better than Scott has played in about three weeks. It's been tough for all of us to learn how to play, especially when you have an inexperienced line-up like we did tonight," Ohlendorf said.

Levin led North with 18 points. Cant scored 15 points, and Daren DePew added 10 points for the Steelers. North also made 26 of 53 shots from the field for 49 percent.

In addition to Collins' scoring, Henry scored 18 points, Gerlach had 12 points and Beattie added 11 points for Sparta.

"We were suffering a little bit, place three games in four days and with the long trip to Sparta those days. It saps a little bit of energy from us. Sparta didn't have very far to go," Ohlendorf said.

North, 2-14 for the season is idle until the weekend. The Steelers, at home for the weekend, plays Quincy Notre Dame Friday and O'Fallon Saturday.

Pioneers edge Steeler cagers 57-55 in overtime

SPARTA — Granite City North's basketball filled the void of its leading scorer, Steve Trittschuh, but the Steelers weren't quite able to pull out a semi-final victory at the Sparta Mid-Winter Classic Friday.

North took the Trico (Campbell Hill) Pioneers to overtime, but Trico defeated the Steelers 57-55 to advance to the championship game against Marissa.

Trittschuh was visiting the University of Indiana in his search for a school to play soccer, and missed both Friday's and Saturday's games.

"We know Steve's important sport is soccer, and we want to help him work out what's best for him," North coach Bill Ohlendorf said. "We surely missed him a lot because he's been shooting very well the last 10 days."

Senior Brian Levin took up much of the slack Trittschuh's absence caused by scoring 24 points for the Steelers, but North's efforts weren't quite enough to top the Pioneers.

North held a four point lead late in the fourth quarter, but the Pioneers came back to tie the game with two free throws and a last second shot to force the game into overtime.

The last second shots was set up when the Steelers missed the top end of an one-and-one in the last seconds of the game. Jeff Gray picked up the rebound, and a Trico player grabbed at the ball, forcing the ball out of bounds. The officials ruled Gray touched it last, so the ball went to Trico to set up the tying basket.

"That was a very tough call to make. We strongly disagreed with the call but to no avail," Ohlendorf said.

In the overtime period, Jackie Ehlers made four free throws and Brian Chapman made two free throws in the last minute of the game to clinch the game for Trico.

Daren DePew added 12 points to help the Steelers.

"We had a chance to win it, but we let them get ahead and we had to fight to come from behind," Ohlendorf said.

Warriors fall to Redbirds

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

ALTON — Mike Harmon, Granite City South's assistant basketball coach, took a chapter out of Vergil Fletcher's playbook and almost made it work perfectly for the Warriors in Alton Friday.

South tried to defend the Alton Redbirds with a 2-3 zone to no avail, so Harmon, taking over for head coach Don Deterding, put in Fletcher's stand-by, the 1-2-2 zone press.

The zone gave Alton fits, but the Redbirds managed to edge the Warriors 72-69 in overtime in a non-conference game.

Deterding's daughter was involved in a serious automobile accident in Rockford, and Deterding flew there to be with her, putting Harmon in charge against the Alton Redbirds.

Harmon came close, but not close enough, to picking up South's third win of the season against the scrappy Redbirds.

"They got a couple of key offensive boards, and we forced a couple of shots late in the fourth quarter. Otherwise we could have won in regulation time," Harmon said.

Alton jumped to a 9-0 lead off the Warriors' 2-3 zone. Harmon, seeing the zone wasn't working, went to the 1-2-2. The defense worked to perfection.

Thanks to the 1-2-2, the Warriors began forcing turnover instead of making turnovers. In fact, the Warriors forced Alton to make 21 turnovers in the game.

South began to reap the benefits of the press late in the second quarter. The Warriors outscored Alton 11-3 in the final three minutes of the quarter to cut an Alton 11-point lead to three points by halftime.

Alton, 6-9 for the season, has a way of getting themselves in close games. The Redbirds were once again in a close game.

"We can't seem to play in anything but close games," Alton coach Stan McAfoos said. "We lost a couple of close games last week (against Collinsville and Wood River), and the only way we can play it is close. We seem to play as well as the competition we're playing."

While Alton was struggling to get its offense together, the Warriors picked up more turnovers and turning them into baskets.

Alton lost a basket when Bryan Clark dunked a shot which was already in the cylinder, and Pat Linhart scored to give South a 42-41 lead. South's Barry Grote stole the ball from the Redbirds, and Linhart scored again to add to South's lead.

Alton took the lead back momentarily, but Linhart forced a turnover and passed to cousin John Linhart, who made two free throws. South led 51-47 at the end of the third quarter.

"I thought the kids played very aggressively," Harmon said. "Our defense was forcing them to make some big turnovers, and we were shooting very well too."

South worked with a four point lead until the middle of the fourth quarter. Alton's man-to-man defense tightened substantially, forcing South to make more turnovers. With 1:15 left Alton had a 60-59 lead.

The fireworks erupted just 12 seconds later. Alton's Ricky Taylor and Pithers began shoving each other at mid-court. According to McAfoos, Taylor thought Pithers was pushing him to get position, and Taylor pushed Pithers to start the shoving match.

After Pithers and Taylor were broken up, John Linhart ran towards Taylor and the two began shoving each other. After Alton officials cleared the floor, referee Ken Thaxton gave Pithers, Linhart and Taylor flagrant technical fouls and ejected all three from the game.

The fouls didn't make a direct impact on the score. Pat Linhart made both free throws while Alton's Brian Smith made two of his four free throws to make the score 63-62.

Tom Adamitis, one of South's two substitutes after the fouls, forced a jumper with 40 seconds left, but Macios stole the ball and scored with 28 seconds to give South a lead.

However, Macios fouled Craig Bealon with 17 seconds left. Bealon made the first shot of the bonus, but missed the second. The Warriors quickly brought the ball down the court, but Linhart missed a jump shot, sending the game into overtime.

With a minute left in overtime, Alton led 68-65. The Warriors again forced a shot, Alton picked up the rebound, and South fouled to try to get the ball back. South called its final timeout before Alton's Bobby Collins made the first bonus free throw but missed the second one.

Linhart missed a free throw, but Nathan Crane made a basket to cut Alton's lead to two. Smith missed a free throw with 18 seconds left, and Linhart scored with 10 seconds to tie the game at 69-69.

Alton had plenty of time to set up a basket, and Brad Collier scored on a lay-up with two seconds left. Macios then called a time-out for South. The Warriors got the time-out, but Macios was given a technical foul because the Warriors had already used expended all six of its time-outs. Smith made one of the two shots for the final point.

"I really didn't think the technicals made an effect on the final outcome," Harmon said. The substitutes who came in played a full junior varsity game, and I thought they did a good job."

Pat Linhart led all scorers with 27 points. Macios added 15 points, John Linhart had 11 points, and Pithers had 10 points. The Warriors made 26 of 54 attempts from the field for 48 percent.

Collier and Daryl Randal led the Redbirds with 19 points each, and Collins had 13 points.

"We were very lucky to win this game," McAfoos said. "We were very flat, and we had to come back to get this one."

because Alton's Daryl Randal blocked the shot. The Warriors lost to Alton 72-69 in overtime Friday.

Lions roar to 73-72 overtime victory over Venice

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

VENICE — It should have been an easy weekend for the Red Devils. Friday, the Venice High School basketball team took on Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis. Going into that game, the Lions had a lowly winning percentage of .387, considerably less than Venice's .928 percentage.

Saturday, Venice was scheduled to take on Illini-Gateway Conference rival Worden. Worden has yet to win.

"It had all the makings for an easy weekend."

But it wasn't. The fact, the weekend might even be called a frustrating one for the Red Devils.

Venice's frustration began at 8 p.m. Friday when a persistent Ritter basketball team refused to succumb to the speedy Red Devils. The end result was a Lion 73-72 overtime victory 100 minutes later.

Saturday night, when the Red Devils turned to Worden for a morale-boosting win, they were denied. The IGC game with Worden was cancelled due to inclement weather.

Suddenly, the weekend, which last week, appeared to be a stroll through a rose garden, turned out to be searing for the Red Devils.

Against Ritter Friday, the Devils began strong but gradually lost control.

By the third quarter, Venice was fighting for its life.

Throughout the first half, Ritter seemed content to trail. Venice held a 21-14 lead by the end of the first quarter, but by halftime, that lead slipped to just four points, 37-33.

Well, Venice was still only four points worse for the Devils. And, that's what troubled Venice's coach Ken Perkins. Perkins said he thought his team (13-2) took Ritter (5-9) too lightly.

"We didn't have any intensity out there tonight," Perkins said. "By halftime, it still looked like we were going to win, that's why we lost," he said.

From the beginning, Ritter moved the ball well against the Devils. Well, Venice was still to establish a full court press, the Lions managed to forego the press, passing the length of the court. More often than not, that left Venice out of position to defend the fast-breaking, passing Lions.

In the first half, while the Lions were breaking their way on to the scoreboard, Venice out paced Ritter with fine perimeter shooting by Eddie Salmond, Phillip White and William Watts. Salmond, Venice's leading scorer, racked up 17 points by the intermission.

Venice's success, however, waned in the second half.

The Red Devils 37-33 halftime lead slipped away in the third quarter. The surging Lions out scored Venice 15-8 to take a 46-45 lead by the end of the third quarter.

The Lions' basket could have been the end it for the Lions. But it didn't. Venice failed to capitalize.

Instead, the Devils stalled. A Ritter zone defense repelled any Venice hopes of getting the inside shot. With two seconds left Salmond forced a partially deflected shot from the corner, sending the game to overtime.

Throughout regulation, Venice was at best inconsistent from the field. The Red Devils shot a lowly 36 percent. Ritter fared somewhat better shooting 53 percent.

"They pushed the ball down our throats," Perkins said. "That and our offensive shot selection was not that good. We should know which are the right shots. But tonight I didn't see any evidence of that."

Over time, however, things were quite different as each team shot 1,000 percent from the field.

The Devils were two of two, while Ritter managed to hit all four of its attempts.

Ritter jumped on top in overtime as Steven Killingsworth banged one it from underneath.

Fourteen seconds later, Phillips hit the first of a one and one situation. Ritter content with a three point lead, stood.

With 2:15 remaining in OT, Salmond hit two free throws to move Venice to within a point 67-66. But Ritter's Darrell Ingram retaliated. The 6-foot-2 senior center, connected with a jumper to move the Lions back up by three.

Once again, having a three-point lead, Ritter stalled. But that was a mistake. Micah Wiley intercepted a Lion pass which resulted in a Keith Marchbanks layup.

Wiley put Venice on top with a jumper with just 59 seconds remaining. With Venice holding a 70-69 lead, Perkins requested a time out.

In the waning seconds, conservatism had precedence.

With 32 seconds remaining, Salmond, by sinking his third and fourth free throw attempts of the overtime, appeared to have secured a Devil victory.

But, with the score 72-69 Ritter refused to concede.

Ritter's Virgil Deanes moved down the court unmolested to move Ritter within one, 72-71.

Venice put the ball in play. A pass went to Marchbanks, then to Salmond. Looking for a shot, Salmond was fouled. It was Samond's seventh trip to the free throw stripe. From the charity stripe he was perfect, hitting 11 of 11.

With seven seconds remaining, he missed. The law of averages caught up with him. The shot bounced off the rim.

Killingsworth rebounded, passed to Deanes and, with one second showing on the clock, Phillips laid it up.

The buzzer signaling the end of the overtime session had already sounded. The ball rolled around the rim.

If it fell outside the rim, Venice would win. If it fell into the basket, Ritter would upset the Devils.

As mentioned, it was a frustrating weekend for the Red Devils. The ball dropped in.

Venice lost.

Ritter fans and athletes went berserk.

Red Devils and fans stood motionless in disbelief.

Perkins couldn't believe it. He sat without saying a word in his office afterwards. Finally he spoke.

"People are going to blame this loss on Salmond," Perkins said. "They'll say, 'if only Salmond wouldn't have missed that free throw we'd have won.' The game wasn't lost because Salmond missed the free throw. It was a total loss," he said.

The loss drops Venice's record to 13-2, while it improved Ritter's record to 5-9. The Red Devils face St. Henry Tuesday night in Belleville. The game against Worden has yet to be rescheduled.

Metro-East gridders defect to Missouri University

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

Don Faurot, legendary coach of Missouri U. football teams before his retirement a decade or more ago, used to brag on his speaking engagements that "I always recruited just boys from the Show Me state."

When asked to explain a long list of Southwestern Illinois prep gridders who were lured by him down to Columbia, Mo., the lean and wiry Faurot would smile and answer: "Don't you know that Madison and St. Clair counties did like the southern states did."

They succeeded from Illinois and joined Missouri.

Faurot, who I think and believe was the most successful man in the building of a football program that ever lived, talked a whole slew of outstanding Illinois prep gridders into matriculating with to Columbia.

However, there was one standout Metro-East grider, Lawrence Clebourne McCauley, who predated Faurot's tenure at Missouri, starting for the Tigers for three years and graduating in 1931. He played his high school football in Granite City High and returned there to successfully coach the grid sport and after a stint in the U.S. Navy as an officer in World War II, he returned home to again tutor the gridders. In addition, in 1948 he coached and directed the Granite City High baseball team to its only Illinois state championship.

After Mac, and recruited by Faurot, there followed many other East Side prep gridders to attend Missouri. Two of the first, both linemen, were Tom Tarpo, and another ace in the line trenches, Clyde Nelson. Nelson, like McCauley, is deceased.

When researching this article, I was saddened by the sports story in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat telling of the upcoming Sugar Bowl game between the Tigers of Missouri and Fordham. The date of the story was datelined, Tuesday, Dec. 2, 1941, just five days before Pearl Harbor the following Sunday. In the story was a one column head shot of Tarpo.

Before writing this story, I contacted Bill Callahan, the Sports Information Director of Missouri, and requested some help in securing the names of players from Southwestern Illinois who played varsity football for the Tigers. That was four months ago and I haven't heard a word. So, I decided to check it out myself. If I miss some players, I'm sincerely sorry.

Right here at home, of course, is Granite City North's football mentor, Tom Wyrostek, who played prep football for Senior High in East St. Louis. At Columbia, he was on the Tigers' offensive line.

Probably the most outstanding East Side grider to play at Missouri is Kellen Winslow, now a member of the Chargers and one of the all-pro pass receivers. A native of East St. Louis, Winslow didn't play high school football until his senior year; a good-paying job for University of Missouri.

Eric Wright, an Assumption High grad, is in his second year with the 49ers. He's one of the best defensive backs in the league.

Bethalto native, Gary Lane, starred at quarterback for Missouri, but never had the success in pro football which it looked like he would. He married a Granite City girl, Gay Mueller. They were classmates at Columbia, but are now divorced.

Johnny Poe, a defensive cornerback at Missouri, played his prep football for East St. Louis' Lincoln High in the early sixties.

Gary Krombrink, ace quarterback on the Maroons of Belleville West, enjoyed an outstanding career at Missouri. There are some who say that the Belleville West eleven in Krombrink's days was the best that school ever produced in a long and brilliant list of great high school grid teams.

Currently, on the Missouri roster but red-shirted this past and just recently completed campaign, is Althoff High's Bob Totsch. He was a linebacker on Althoff's 1980 Illinois state championship eleven. And Benny Lewis (no relation to Lincoln High's varsity case coach) was a nose guard on Warren Powers' football team these past two years.

McCauley, who earned a Bachelor of Journalism degree from Missouri's highly touted School of Journalism in 1931, eventually quit coaching and became principal of Granite City South.

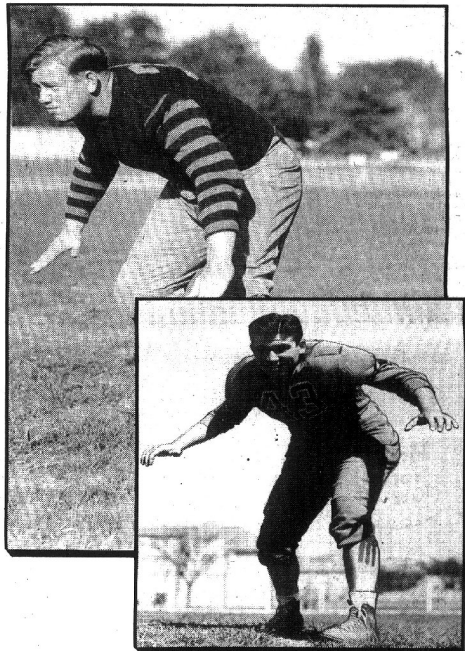

Says his widow, Dorothy, a Beaumont High of St. Louis graduate who met and subsequently married Mac at Columbia: "I never saw Mac cry. He came very close, though, when many of the athletic trophies and pictures were destroyed in the fire which swept the high school years ago."

It is, in fact, very sad that many of the athletic team photos of Granite City High South are missing.

Perhaps, it would be possible to organize a movement to replace all those old records, etc. At least, I'm very sure, that most of the missing team pictures are still in the homes of someone.

Any ideas? Personally, I would like to see a Quad City Sports Hall of Fame formed and opened as soon as possible. This area, Granite City, Madison and Venice, has had a great athletic history which deserves to be honored.

Triad Knights edge South 59-54

By JIM SCHLUTER

When the game was on the line in the fourth quarter, the Triad basketball team took where to turn.

The Knights looked to the muscle of Steve Brown and Pat McMullin in Saturday night's game with Granite City South, and the pair of strong men pulled Triad to a 59-54 win over the Warriors at Triad.

Brown and McMullin took command of the boards in the fourth quarter, and the Knights made some big free throws to slide away from the Warriors, who had come from behind to tie the score at 54-54 with 1:28 left in the game.

Triad Coach Rich Mason appreciated the game played by his two inside men. As a team, the Knights outscored the Warriors 40-24.

"They work hard on the boards for their size," Mason said. "I think we looked a little flat early in the game, but we came back and played."

Mason said the icy weather that canceled Friday's game with Edwardsville may have been reason for Triad's slow start. The Knights did not work out Friday because of the scheduled game with the Tigers.

Triad, 12-6, did pull away to a 47-40 lead over the Warriors, 2-12, when Brown scored from inside with 6:24 left in the game, but South came back despite the loss of two starters.

Starter John Linhart missed Saturday's game because he was on a football recruiting trip to the University of Minnesota, and front-liner Brian Pithers was felled in the first quarter of Saturday's game with a sprained ankle.

That didn't stop the Warriors from closing the gap late in the fourth quarter. Gary Apperson hit a 10-footer to cut Triad's lead to 53-50 with 2:31 left, and Paul Macies, who led all scorers with 22 points, scored from underneath to make the score 53-53 just 30 seconds later.

McMullin came back with a free throw, but Nathan Crane's bucket with 1:28 left tied the game.

That's when the Knights went to the line to beat South. Bill Carriger sank two free throws with 1:11 left, and after Macies missed a 15-footer, Brown came down with a big rebound with 45 seconds left.

Chris Wiesemeyer hit a free throw with 24 seconds left to give Triad a three-point lead, and after Mike Rogier was fouled on a defensive rebound, the game was over. Wiesemeyer and McMullin added free throws to finish the scoring.

McMullin led Triad's balanced attack with 19 points and he also grabbed eight rebounds. Brown popped in 13 points and led Triad with 15 boards, while Rogier and Carriger each chipped in 12 points. Rogier also collected 10 rebounds.

Pat Linhart, the Warriors' leading scorer, could only connect on six of 21 field goal attempts and finished with 12 points, while Crane, Linhart, Crane, and Apperson all grabbed six rebounds.

Strong third quarter lifts Trojans past MELHS

By MICHAEL BARTELS
of the Press-Record

When the full-court press was first conceived, shortly after the invention of the game of basketball by Dr. Naismith in a Massachusetts schoolyard, it was used primarily as a weapon to open up a game quickly by forcing turnovers and causing a team to lose its composure. Things haven't changed.

Effectively used, the press could turn a game around, or open up a sizable lead before the opponents can regain their lost composure. On Saturday night at Metro-East Lutheran High School in Edwardsville, Madison and Venice's Trojans demonstrated the textbook definition of the press, turning a half-time tie into a 22-point victory, downing the host Knights, 75-53.

After fighting their way to a 33-33 tie at the end of the first half, the Knights of Metro-East came out in the second half, only to be greeted by Graham's press.

In the first half, the press Graham used created pressure by matching up with Metro-East man-for-man and double teaming the ball on switches. The Knights again began executing well, playing the Trojans even in the fourth quarter, as both teams hit for 14 points.

Leroy Pryor led the Trojans with 18 points and Michael Young added 14. Also scoring in double figures were Terry Hamilton with 12 and Keith Wyatt with 11.

For Metro-East, Cliff Dellamano was the only Knight to reach double figures with 11.

The Madison Trojans will take on O'Fallon Tech tonight at home and the Metro-East Knights will play Tuesday night, also at home, against St. Henry.

MADISON (75): Bishop 4, Pryor 18, Wyatt 11, Young 14, Valentine 8, Hughes 14, Hamilton 12, 34 FG, 7 FT, 19 PF.

METRO-EAST LUTHERAN (53): Trampe 8, Danbe 7, Rankin 6, Hillmer 4, Cummings 8, Delamano 11, Deterding 8, 19 FG, 15 FT, 14 PF.

New bass length limit regulation at Rend Lake

SPRINGFIELD — A new

14-inch minimum length limit for black bass became effective this month at Rend Lake near Fulton, according to Harry Wright, conservation department reservoir fisheries biologist.

The regulation also applies to Rend Lake's tributary streams, and those portions of the Big Muddy and Cache la Poudre rivers up to the Rend Lake Project boundaries.

Wright said.

It is hoped that the measure will help to reverse the gradually declining black bass population at the huge southern Illinois reservoir, Wright said. He said the decline is the result of possible over harvest, overpopulation of panfish and deteriorating bass habitat.

The new regulation requires anglers to release all black bass under 14 inches in length. Wright explained that the length is determined by measuring from the tip of the snout to the end of the tail with the fish laid flat on a ruler, mouth closed and tail lobes pressed together.

Bass anglers account for much of the fishing pressure at Rend Lake. A recent DOC survey indicated that 28 percent of all angler trips made to U.S. Army Corps of Engineer reservoirs like Rend Lake are made expressly for bass fishing. Hence, there should be considerable interest in obeying a regulation designed to improve the bass fishing, Wright said.

Wright said that in the first few years after a reservoir is filled, fishing is superior, primarily because of abundant cover and food.

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, January 24, 1983—9

Steelers dominate in Wentzville tourney; 17-0

WENTZVILLE — Can anybody stop Granite City North's wrestling team? The Steelers further entrenched their reputation as the St. Louis area's toughest wrestling team by winning its second Wentzville Invitational Tournament Saturday.

The Steelers easily won the team title with 208½ points, 7½ ahead of second place Hazelwood West, which had 137 points.

The reason why the Steelers won by such a wide margin was simple. Every Steeler from 98 to heavyweight placed in the top four. North claimed seven individual champions, one second-place finisher, three third-place finishers and one fourth place wrestler.

"I never dreamed that we win this meet so easily and have everyone place," North coach Walt Whitaker said. "The kids really did an outstanding job."

North won the meet before the championship round just by having eight wrestlers in the first place matches, but that didn't stop North from exercising its dominance of the tournament.

Colin Davis, wrestling at 98, bounced back from his loss to Althoff's Joe Williams and defeated Dave Brangenberg of Wentzville 24-0 in the title match.

Greg Nemeth pinned his opponent, John Barfield of Hazelwood West, in 3:06 to win the 105 title.

Brent McKenney continued North's juggernaut by defeat John Cimmarust of Wentzville's 5-2 at 119.

Davis, Nemeth and McKenney will be wrestling at those weight classes during the Collinsville Regional meet Feb. 11-12. The three have been wrestling in heavier weight classes throughout the season.

At 126, Rod Unger maintained his undefeated record by defeating Tim Link of Hancock 5-1. Link finished second at 119 in Missouri last year.

Monte Kessler defeated Kirk Sissom of Hazelwood West 11-4 to win the 145 title. "Kessler winning the championship was a big one for us. If he can keep on wrestling like that, we're going to be pretty strong at that weight," Whitaker said.

Bruce Widel, 155, needed an overtime period to defeat Scott Sissom of Hazelwood West 4-1 for the championship.

John Morris picked up North's other championship by pinning Joe Williams in 1:30.

Wentzville's Wayne Rolwes defeated North's Bill Zimmer 13-2 in the championship match at 167.

The third place matches went well for the Steelers. Brian Hayes, 119, defeated Steve Habue of Union 6-3, Ken Patterson, 138, defeated Fred Montgomery of Parkway North 9-6 and heavyweight John Kramer pinned Brian Manguel of Hazelwood West in 1:30.

Joe Hickey of Wentzville defeated Mark Whitaker of North 10-3 in the third place match at 132.

"All 12 of our wrestlers were in the semi-finals, we had it pretty well wrapped up when eight of those made the championship. That really surprised me that all 12 wrestlers placed, because with the caliber of teams, I thought there would be a couple of wrestlers who wouldn't place," Whitaker said.

Wentzville was third in the tournament with 136 points, Parkway South was fourth with 86½ points, Union had 85½ points, Parkway North scored 85 points, and Hancock was last with 17½ points.

"It looks like we're pretty solid right now," Whitaker said.

The Steelers wrestled Triad Tuesday at 6:30 and travel to Cahokia Saturday with a double dual meet with Cahokia and Roxana Saturday at 10 a.m.

'Big five' prove worth in weekend mat matches

Five grapplers from from Granite City South's wrestling team have done it again. Historically this season, South has won most of its matches with the strength of its lightest and its heaviest four wrestlers. Such was the case this weekend.

Friday against Parkway West, the Warriors won 33-20 because of the "big five" said coach Bill "Red" Schmitt.

Saturday, in a quadrangular match at Hazelwood Central, South's heaviest four wrestlers won their respective weight classes, while its lightest grappler finished second. South's efforts were good enough to give them a third place finish behind Hazelwood Central and Roxana. Lindbergh finished fourth.

Friday night, against Parkway West, South's Jeff Cotter, the lightest of the Warrior wrestlers, defeated Andy Proccio 5-3 in 98 pound competition to give the Warriors the first victory of the afternoon.

The middle weight matches, excluding 132 and 138 in which Darrin Haste and Mike Fenoglio each won, were either losses or draws for the Warriors.

That's where South's heavier wrestlers proved their value.

Jon Frangoulis, wrestling 167, defeated Parkway's Alan Bess 12-7.

Henry Brown defeated Parkway's Scott Rose 7-3 and heavyweight Paul Hitchcock put it to Parkway's Paul Luedde in just 1:04.

South's Mark Dowdy, wrestling 155, tied Parkway's Dave Ventiniglia 3-3.

Saturday in the quadrangular match up, South's Dowdy, wrestling 155, defeated Greg Woyner of Hazelwood 8-4 for the championship.

At 167, Frangoulis also defeated his Hazelwood Central opponent for the championship. Frangoulis won by virtue of a 3-4 decision.

South's third champion of the match up came as Brown, wrestling 185, defeated Hazelwood's Melvin Wise 6-3.

South's final champion of the quadrangular came as Hitchcock defeated Hazelwood's Jim Biernann 12-3.

South's big, little man, Cotter, finished second in the quadrangular as he lost to Hazelwood's Tom Russell. Cotter was winning 5-3 when before Russell pinned him at 3:02.

South finished the quadrangular match up, ran as three dual meets, third, Against Hazelwood, South lost 38-13. Against Roxana, South wrestled somewhat better but still lost 37-25. In the final pairing, against Lindbergh, South won 37-22.

BAC instructors agree to contract and wage freeze

Belleville Area College instructors have agreed to a wage freeze in their new working agreement for the 1983-84 school year and the BAC board has voted to increase tuition by $2 per semester hour in an attempt to balance the budget.

The new agreement, with the instructors, reached after only about two hours of negotiations, was announced by the BAC Board of Trustees last week. "I believe they (the instructors) are acting in a very responsible manner," said Avery Schermer of Madison, a member of the BAC Board.

Faculty negotiators Donald Libby and Ken Pizke said they are very concerned about the financial position of the state and the county in general. Many citizens of the college district are facing layoffs and wage uncertainties, he said.

By agreeing to the wage freeze, the college's employees recognize the importance of the college keeping in touch with the district, he noted.

In presenting the contract to the faculty for ratification, Libby said, "There is a very divergent set of influences affecting the operation of our school. The board of trustees delivers a tremendous amount of time and effort in order to conscientiously perform their tasks for which their primary reward is often only the knowledge they have done their best."

"I believe the proposed contract embodies good faith and will permit our administration to proceed to efficiently prepare the next fiscal year budget," he said.

Dr. Bruce Wissore, BAC president, noted, "I am extremely proud of our staff. We already knew that no Illinois community college has a more productive staff than ours. It is also evident that they are extremely concerned about the economy and its impact on the citizens and taxpayers of this district."

Also approved by the trustees last week was the per semester hour increase in tuition. "We have to do it. The percentage is not really out of line," Schermer said.

He noted that $1 increases had been implemented in past years and last year, $2 became necessary, the same as this year. He said "uncontrollable costs and state fund cuts" were responsible, including the recent 1½ percent state cut for six months (equal to three percent per year), which will cost the college $200,000.

REINHARDT ATTENDS SPRINGFIELD MEETING

45th annual ball Jan. 29 in Venice

The Joey James Orchestra will provide music for dancing at the 45th annual Crippled Children's Ball at 9 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 29, at the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall, 740 Broadway, Venice.

Sponsored annually by the Venice Crippled Children's Organization, proceeds from the ball help to support work at the Shrine's Hospital for Crippled Children.

Others benefiting from the gala event, include the Shriners Burns Center, St. Louis Children's Hospital, March of Dimes Foundation, the Salk Institute and the Organization for the Advancement of the Handicapped (OATH).

Tickets to the ball, costing $2 each, may be obtained at the door the night of the dance, or in advance from ticket co-chairmen Jack Tolliver and George Mangiaracino and other members of the Venice organization.

Dance music will be played from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. by the Joey James Orchestra, which has appeared at the Hyatt-Regency O'Hare Hotel, Sheraton O'Hare Hotel and the Sheraton Oakbrook Hotel, all in Chicago. At the latter hotel, the group performed with entertainer Art Linkletter.

In addition to numerous public engagements in the local area, the band also appears at private functions, including conventions at hotels, country clubs and the Missouri Athletic Club in St. Louis.

Orchestra Leader Joey James is an accomplished musician on the accordion, cordovox and piano and also provides vocals. Performing with him are:

Ron Mitchell, who plays trumpet and sings and was formerly with the Ron Mitchell Trio, Sal Denon Big Band and Ron Mitchell Orchestra; George Koprivica, string bass and electric bass, formerly with Joe Bozzi and Johnny Polzin orchestras.

Gordon "Piccolo Pete" Routh, who plays saxophone and clarinet and sings and was formerly with the Joe Ladd and Walter Schlemer orchestras; and Wayne Koshak, drums.

Current officers of the Venice organization are: Tom Fields, president and general chairman of the ball; Milton Morris, vice president; Roseann Koelker, secretary; and Valeta Bauder, treasurer.

Fields is urging the public to attend the ball and support the organization's philanthropic endeavor.

STEELES CASH Betty Moss, 14 Westgate Drive, reported last week that someone removed $150 from a bank envelope in her purse while she was working at the Mr. Tax of America office, 1320 Niedringhaus Ave. The purse had been placed under in the office, she said, Ave., last week.

Value of learning centers stressed

Mrs. Kathleen Dauer, president of the Granite City Council for Gifted Children, testified at last week's school hearing in support of "high standards of elementary education and continuation of learning centers in the elementary schools."

She said, "The learning centers aid all the students in the schools, helping in mathematics, reading or other learning deficiencies or just in learning about something new or interesting."

"The centers are also the cornerstone of gifted education in the elementary schools."

"Gifted students who have had the advantage of special programs have shown remarkable improvements in self-understanding and in ability to relate to others, as well as in improved academic and creative performance."

"The shame lies in the old myth that a gifted or talented youngster will succeed best if just left alone," Mrs. Dauer commented.

"Those who stay in classes that do not challenge them may develop emotional problems, becoming juvenile delinquents and never reaching their full potential."

"Gifted and talented children typically are creative, have long attention spans, learn quickly, ask many questions and want to explore subjects in great depth."

"It is precisely these characteristics that often work against them at school. Teachers not used to dealing with gifted and talented children often view their behavior and attitude in the classroom as abnormal and an irritation."

"Many people want to drum the giftedness out of them."

"Gifted education tends to be a very low priority in most school districts. Other programs for the handicapped are required by the federal government, whereas gifted education is not."

"To bring a handicapped child up to his potential is great. But shouldn't we also be working with someone who could produce for society and maybe be a help to the handicapped?"

"These children are our future leaders and professionals."

"With these very special programs, support and guidance, I hope we will not lose any of them."

"Statistics show that up to 20 percent of high school dropouts are actually gifted students."

"Another concern is the suicide rate among bright youth. How can we allow such an occurrence in Granite City?"

"I feel strongly that if such gifted programs are in place, centers, now present in our elementary schools, were to be discontinued, the danger for such occurrences would be increased."

"The Granite City Council for Gifted Children wishes to show love for our children and support for continued special gifted education programs through the operation of learning centers in the elementary schools."

WORKSHOP ON PUBLIC RELATIONS

"Public Relations and Image Building" is the title of a free workshop to be presented tomorrow at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The workshop will detail the components of a successful public relations campaign, campus services available for public relations campaigning, image building and the importance of an organization's image.

The workshop will meet from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in the Mississippi Room of the University Center.

Annette Mulvaney Graebe, coordinator of the University Information Center, and Sam Smith, director of University News Services, will conduct the workshop.

For additional information about the workshop, interested persons may contact Joslyn Stevenson of the Student Activities Office at 1-692-2686.

Mrs. B.J. Jones presents program

Mrs. B.J. Jones presented a cultural program on the topic, "The Neuman Marcus Catalog" at a meeting of the Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, last week.

The session was held in the home of Mrs. Linda Koenig with President Carol Cathey in charge. Reports were given by Terry Guldridge, secretary and Mrs. Jones, treasurer.

Marilyn Lumpkins, extension officer, spoke on the reorganization of the chapter following the progression of several members to the Laureate Degree. All changes have been submitted to the international office, she noted.

Guests introduced were Barbara Hente, Janet Monaghan, Betty Beck, Phyllis Kubeika, Joan Pritchard, Donna Lane, Dorothy Simpson and Carolyn Walsh. Mrs. Hente, the sorority city council president, announced the next council meeting is scheduled for Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Cathey. Mrs. Cathey will also host the Jan. 26 meeting of the chapter.

A dessert course was served by the hostess after the business discussions.

The free shows are scheduled in the Video Lounge, on the second floor of the University Center. Showtimes are Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 12:30 and 1:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday at 10:30 and 11:30 a.m., and Monday and Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

In "Mountain Music," Will Vinton uses clay to create characters and a mountain setting. A critique about the video says the film implies some tongue-in-cheek questions about nature and technology. The second video,

"Rockworld," features various rock groups in concert. The video series is sponsored by the student Program Board. For more information, interested persons may contact the SPB at 1-692-2617.

Flood disaster aid for sewers in doubt

Granite City's initial call for $400,000 in flood disaster aid to repair major sewer breaks has been rejected, but hope remains.

A public information officer from the Springfield Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (ESDA) confirmed Wednesday that Madison County's request has been turned down, but said government officials are still assessing the situation.

"The door is not yet closed," according to the ESDA official.

At risk are the loss of 75 percent federal funding grants available to repair publicly-owned facilities and utilities damaged in December rains and flooding.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the council he was unofficially informed Monday that Madison County is not going to be declared a disaster area. It is now up to County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City to appeal the decision. If Granite City's request is to remain in consideration, Hagnauer's office was expected to announce its decision today.

"Granite City is, by far, the disaster, by dollars, in Madison County," Schuler explained at Tuesday night's council meeting. "We're going to make all kinds of efforts to get Madison County declared a (federal) disaster area."

His efforts are expected to include appealing for the support of state and federal legislators. If the city is unsuccessful, the mayor predicted the city will be "in all kinds of trouble." The projected $400,000 plus sewer repair costs come at a time the city is considering borrowing to cover its regular expenses.

William Eisele, regional ESDA coordinator, who is working with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), said an FEMA inspector surveyed Granite City sewer damage and Metro-East Sanitary District pump damage about two weeks ago. Based on that inspection, Madison County was not included among a list of counties now eligible for federal public assistance.

Eisele thinks the federal decision was related to the scattered dates sewer breaks occurred here, and to the fact that neither the city nor county chose to declare themselves disaster areas. A 1975 state law allows municipalities to declare a separate disaster status for themselves, according to Eisele, who said the city's decision not to seek disaster status, puts its claim in question.

Although flooding conditions occurred about Dec. 2, three of the city's sewer breaks happened before that date and the remaining breaks took place several weeks later. However, Mayor Schuler cited a groundwater table, heightened by river flooding, as the most probable cause for the city's pattern of sewer collapses.

Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield lists the breaks and times of the occurrences as: 2800 block of Lincoln Avenue, approximately two years ago; Terrace Lane, approximately a year and a half ago; 2900 block of Faith Avenue, Nov. 26; 2800 block of East 23rd Street, Dec. 25; 2600 block of Faith Avenue, Dec. 29, and Boyle Avenue, Jan. 16.

In lieu of major sewer repairs, emergency measures being taken include installing shallow plastic lines to pump sewage from one manhole to another to bypass breaks in the lines. The cost of the constant pumping is rapidly draining the entire budget the city has set aside for sewer maintenance.

Warfield, the mayor, and city engineers are now exploring less costly alternatives to the extensive repairs needed.

Man nabs youth, police recover loot

Three juveniles were taken into custody by Madison police last week after they allegedly were observed at 7:30 p.m. attempting to enter several automobiles at White's Auto Sales, 739 Madison Ave., Madison.

Christopher E. Willings, 814 Madison Ave., who lives across the street from White's Auto Sales, told the police he chased the three youths south on Madison Avenue after he saw them trying to enter the automobiles. One youth was caught by Willings and the other two ran west on Seventh Street. Willings told police he saw them throw keys underneath an automobile parked in the lot.

Storeowner Lester White was called by police and asked to check the office, from which he found 30 sets of keys and a calculator clock missing. Police determined that entry had been gained through a rear bathroom window.

The captured juvenile led police to the other two, who took authorities to the back yard of 1436 Seventh St., where 12 sets of keys were initially recovered. The youths were taken to police headquarters and their parents notified.

Before being released, one of the juveniles showed police five sets of keys under the seat of the police car. The youths also took police near the mini-bank at Eighth Street and Madison Avenue, where three calculators, a movie camera and case, a card game and two more sets of keys were found in a hole in the alley.

Three pens, a tire gauge and one set of keys were found behind Friedman's Hardware, 405 Madison Ave. Two other sets of keys were found in the Seventh Street back yard.

Showing increases were auto burglaries, up 24 percent from 259 cases to 321, and burglaries, up two percent, from 578 cases to 591.

Arrests were down in 1982 from the previous year, showing an eight percent drop in serious cases and a five percent drop overall.

The highlight of the arrests during the year, other than

The number of fatal accidents in the city fell from five in 1981 to only one last year and injury accidents were down 27 percent, from 384 cases to 288 last year.

The total number of accidents was down eight percent, from 1,451 cases in 1981 to 1,342 cases last year. A total of 367 persons were injured in auto accidents in the city in 1982, a 30 percent drop from 529 injuries in the previous year, the report notes.

There were 3,862 traffic arrests last year, up 18 percent from the 3,277 traffic arrests in 1981. Total arrests for traffic, crime and other violations reached 5,389, up nine percent from the 4,920 in 1981.

Six Flags seeks performers

Six Flags Over Mid-America's talent scouts are currently searching for new talent to cast the theme park's 1983 musical shows.

"This year, in addition to singers and dancers, Six Flags also is looking for the most unique and unusual variety acts. For example, jugglers or juggling teams, barber shop quartets who do something such as ride a bicycle built for four while singing, sword swallowers, or even unique solo musicians who play instruments such as a saw or glasses of water."

Persons who are not sure as to whether or not their particular act might qualify may call the Six Flags Operations office at 1-314-938-5300, extension 359.

Individuals must be 16 years of age or older. A piano accompanist will be available or individuals may bring their own. Record player and cassette tape player also will be made available. Singers are asked to bring accompaniment music in their key. Dancers will be given a combination of 7 y 4 x F 1 g s.

Auditions will be held at the Palace Music Hall at Six Flags according to the following schedule: Friday, Jan. 28, and Saturday, Jan. 29, at 10 a.m. each day. Registration will begin one hour prior to audition time at the Palace Music Hall.

GRADUATES AS AN ARMOR CREWMAN

Private Douglas W. Jones, son of William C. and Rose M. Jones, 2327 Hodges Ave., has graduated as an armor crewman at the U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky.

The training was conducted under the one station unit training (OSUT) program, which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training into one 13-week period.

During the course, students received training in the duties of a tank crewman, including firing the tank's armament and small weapons. Instruction also was given in field radio operations, map reading and maintenance and repair.

He is a 1982 graduate of Granite City High School South.

Pomeroy hits state shooter list again

Detective Sgt. Kerry "Kip" Pomeroy, a Granite City police officer, has again been named among the "Governor's Twenty" top combat pistol competitors in the state.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Chief of Police Ronald Veizer commended the officer's accomplishments at the Granite City Council session last week. Veizer said Pomeroy's shooting skills give both a state and national reputation to the local department.

The police chief said Pomeroy also will be competing for top country honors in a program established by President Theodore Roosevelt. The state "Governor's Twenty" program is intended to recognize superior skills.

More than 600 officers participated in the program this year. Lt. E. Fred Bosse of the Chicago Police Department and the Illinois Police Combat Association, gave the official word that Pomeroy has been named to the 10th position on the 1982 list.

"Governor James Thompson and myself extend our most hearty congratulations," Bosse stated. Pomeroy is a graduate of Granite City High School South and Belleville Area College. Over the years, he has taken top honors in pistol shoots in various states.

Snow tourney entries open

Entries now are being accepted for a snow ball softball tournament to be held March 5 and 6 for the benefit of the American Cancer Society.

All entries must be submitted by Feb. 21 to assure a team position. First, second and third place prizes of $150, $75 and $50 will be awarded.

INJURED ON NAMEOKI
Mark R. Richey, 71, of 2808 Wayne Ave. suffered cuts, bruises and lacerations in a collision between the front of his auto and the rear of a van driven by Pamela Hays, 1620 Sycamore Ave. Both were southbound on Nameoki Road near Clark Avenue; she stopped as a truck in front of her halted.

Any of several factors could have contributed to the problem, including structural defects, architectural factors like stress and movement, or roofing application. Patcheff indicated the roof, he said, might have been put on at the wrong time or the materials might have been wet. So far, no conclusions have been reached and it has not been determined what should be done to correct the problems.

"I'm happy to see the state is finally getting involved," Patcheff said Friday. At the school board meeting, he suggested the district may have been "short suited" with the roof and concluded that "something has to be done." State involvement provides the district with hope that the situation will be corrected, the board indicated.

The board also learned that work on a district policy manual has progressed and that Suzanne Humphrey of the School Management Foundation of Illinois (SMFI) has studied the board's minutes and visited the district. The SMFI is working with the district and the board to compile the manual. Sam Dymas, school board president, appointed members Edward Dohal and Billie Bosworth to serve as a board policy committee with member Don Garrett acting as an alternate. The committee will meet with SMFI representatives.

A letter from the State Superintendent of Education Donald Gill of the Illinois State Board of Education was received, in which recognition was given the school district and all its attendance centers for the 1982-83 school term. "We're very pleased (with the evaluation report)," Patcheff said.

In other communication, the board learned that detective safety valves on steam boilers at the high school, Louis Baer and Dunbar schools have been replaced.

Drawings for possible remodeling of the Madison Vocational Center, 71rd Street and Alton Avenue, have been completed by Henry R. Gabriel and Associates, Inc.

The board presently is considering cost factors and needs before determining if remodeling is feasible.

SIUE dancers featured in 'Opus '83'

Life in motion. Forms floating above the state. Great hot numbers. Dance is coming to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"Opus '83" is the SIUE dance department's yearly contribution to the university theater season. The program will be presented in the Communications Building theater from Thursday, Jan. 27, through Saturday, Jan. 29, beginning at 8:15 each night.

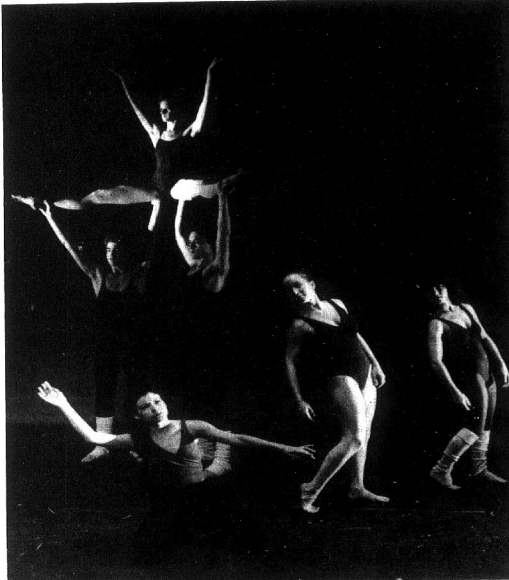

All the dances are original works choreographed by dance students from SIUE and SIU at Carbondale. The dance styles will include abstract modern works, jazz numbers, interpretations of popular dance forms and environmental dances, according to the production director, Alaine Wiltz. She also is coordinator of the dance program at SIUE.

The environmental dances, which will be works by the Carbondale students, will be presented in the lobby of the theater during the program intermission.

Mrs. Wiltz explained that this year's performance will be especially important because SIUE does not plan to present a dance program this academic year. The performance will be a combined effort of both universities and will be the only chance to see the young artists in this area this season.

Thirteen dances will be included in the program, nine by SIUE students and four by SIU students.

Parking for the performances is free behind the Communications Building on the nights of the performances. Ticket information and reservations may be obtained by calling 1-692-2773.

DREAM-STATE DANCERS. Dance students from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville collect movements from several dances to give this surreal preview to 'Opus '83.' The program of original dances choreographed by SIUE students will be performed at 8:15 p.m. on Jan. 27, 28 and 29 in the Communications Building theater at SIUE. (Photo by Charles H. Cox)

State to investigate leaking roof at Madison Middle School

By NANCY WEIL

of the Press-Record

The State Capital Development Board has stepped in to help Madison Middle School District 12 determine why the three-year-old roof on the academic wing at the Middle School is in bad condition.

The Madison School Board Thursday learned that the CDB had visited the school, but John Patcheff, Madison school superintendent, said that "no one is ready to say" what caused the splits and breaks in the roof.

School district officials are concerned that water could seep into the roofing and damage ceiling tiles and floors, he added. Roofs on the other two sections of the school have not experienced problems.

Any of several factors could have contributed to the problem, including structural defects, architectural factors like stress and movement, or roofing application. Patcheff indicated the roof, he said, might have been put on at the wrong time or the materials might have been wet. So far, no conclusions have been reached and it has not been determined what should be done to correct the problems.

"I'm happy to see the state is finally getting involved," Patcheff said Friday.

At the school board meeting, he suggested the district may have been "short suited" with the roof and concluded that "something has to be done." State involvement provides the district with hope that the situation will be corrected, the board indicated.

The board also learned that work on a district policy manual has progressed and that Suzanne Humphrey of the School Management Foundation of Illinois (SMFI) has studied the board's minutes and visited the district. The SMFI is

Piasa Health care license is renewed

Piasa Health Care has received licensure renewal from the Illinois Department of Public Health for programs and facilities operated in Madison County.

During a recent inspection, the agency was surveyed to determine compliance with public health standards concerning patient care, records, safety, sanitation and other issues.

Programs found in compliance with the standards include the agency's outpatient, outreach, and after-care facilities in Wood River, Edwardsville, and Granite City and two inpatient facilities in Alton.

Piasa Health Care is a non-profit organization that specializes in the prevention and treatment of chemical dependency.

St. Elizabeth blood drive Feb. 4

St. Elizabeth Medical Center is having a Red Cross Blood Drive on Friday, Feb. 4, from 11 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. in Pinal Hall. The citizens of Granite City and surrounding area are being asked to donate blood. It requires only about an hour. Most of the blood collected is used to provide platelets for patients.

Platelets are a very precious component of blood. Since platelets have only a short lifespan (three to five days), the need for blood stream, time is essential. The more quickly they are removed from the whole blood, the more quickly they are available for transfusion.

Platelets perform a vital function in the body. They help control blood loss by releasing chemicals that initiate coagulation or blood clotting. Platelets aid patients with serious injuries, those with clotting problems, and those receiving chemotherapy treatments due to cancer.

"A reliable source of blood is necessary for the good health of the community. The only source of blood is people. It is up to us to replenish the supply. If we do not give, it will not be there when it is needed," a spokesman said.

County board evaluates purchasing procedures

By SUSAN WEIL
of the Press-Record

The possibility of "bending the rules to save money," took up the majority of time at the Madison County Board meeting when discussion turned to the purchase of 50 Lumex-Ortho Biotic rocking chairs for the Madison County Nursing Home, for a total of $7,500 in already budgeted revenue sharing funds.

With salary increases and a resolution calling for the dismissal of Supervisor of Assessments James Barton on the agenda, it did not appear that the board would have much time to deal with other issues. But both the pay hike and the resolution were dealt with swiftly and attention turned to the chairs.

The Health Institutions

Committee Chairman William Webb, recommended the immediate purchase of the special chairs, which would require the board to suspend a rule stating that any purchase of more than $2,000 be let for bids. The price of the chairs increased Dec. 31, but one distributor had agreed to sell the chairs to the county at last year's cost, pending a decision at yesterday's meeting. Webb indicated in a memorandum to the board.

Several board members were clearly upset about "bending rules" to save money. Webb told the board that $5,000 could possibly be saved.

Marshall "Zeke" Smith, assistant state's attorney, read the rule at the meeting and indicated there should be no exception to it. Suspension of the rule would require a two-thirds vote, he said.

"The overriding factor is the purchasing rule," said Fred Dalton, D-Collinsville, who opposed suspension of the rule. Even if money was saved, he said, "bending the rules and allowing immediate purchase of the chairs, Dalton said that following the rule "leads credibility to the purchase."

He continued that "We could save $5,000 today, but then we would pick and choose when to follow the rules."

Webb continued to argue for the suspension, saying "Roberts Rules of Order" as a comparison. "Roberts," he said is useful as a guide, but should not "stand in the way" of getting business done if money can be saved. "I figure this rule (on purchases) is the same way," Dalton, however, remained unconvinced. The board sets rules, he said, not "bend or break" them. "If you have rules, live by them or change them," he said.

The board could not muster a two-thirds vote.

In other action, the board approved the purchase of 10 or 12 new fleet vehicles for the Sheriff's Department, presently budgeted in revenue sharing money.

The position of special public defender was abolished through a resolution approved by the board.

Also approved were two worker's compensation settlements.

DAV elects new commander

Andrew Gitchoff was elected commander of the Disabled American Veterans, Chapter 53, and was installed at the January meeting of the organization.

Others taking the oath of office for the ensuing year were Roland Fiedler, senior vice-commander, Fred Collins, junior vice-commander, Eldon Curtright, chaplain, Joseph Hefferty, treasurer.

Lawrence Lockhart, Department of Illinois Chief of Staff, served as the installing officer.

After the ceremonial, Gitchoff appointed Joseph Hefferty to serve as adjutant.

Robert Pine, assistant service officer, with Robert Nomm and James Miller as co-chairmen of the entertainment committee.

Other appointments will be announced at the February session, the new commander explained.

In other business Lockhart reported that Wayne Lipard died since the December meeting.

He said there has not been any problems in conjunction with providing free service to area veterans.

The local chapter has exceeded the membership goal of 38 set by the National Headquarters, according to Hefferty.

Andrew Gitchoff

George Krpan reported the local business community, Granite City Council, and Mayor Paul Schuler have responded to the needs of the handicapped by providing reserved parking spaces in their lots. The council enacted an ordinance prohibiting parking in spaces for other than authorized handicapped persons, he added.

Members agreed to send a donation to Coordinated Youth Service to support their educational program. After the meeting refreshments were prepared and served by Robert Nomm.

Man, 34, wounded seriously by gun

Ronald Reynor, 34, of 2416 Illinois Ave., suffered a serious gunshot wound at his home last week. After being aided by paramedics while he was lying on the living room floor, he was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He was initially seen on the floor at 4 p.m., when he allegedly pointed a gun at a relative.

Other relatives were contacted and arrived a short time later. As he walked into a bathroom, the gun could be seen in a back pocket of his trousers.

One of the family members voiced concern that something was not right. A shot was heard while he was alone in the bathroom, and authorities were summoned. Police removed from his pocket a .22-caliber pistol with two live rounds and four spent rounds.

Location of the wound was not specified. He is in serious condition and under intensive care.

REPORTS DAMAGE TO VEHICLES

John Gancheff, 3108 Edgewood Ave., reported last week that six vehicles belonging to his family, which were parked in his yard or adjacent to his dwelling, had a total of 14 tires damaged. A threatening unsigned note, smeared with ketchup, was left on the windshield of one vehicle.

Gancheff reported his son went outside to get a newspaper and saw someone tampering with one of the cars parked on Kilarney Drive.

The man then jumped into waiting auto, driven by another person, and sped away. Gancheff's son reported throwing a flashlight at the auto, hitting the side.

It wasn't until daylight that the damage to the tires was discovered. Gancheff told officers. Police are continuing to investigate the incident.

Kevin Williamson completes project

Life Scout Kevin Williamson of Boy Scout Troop 7, sponsored by St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church, completed his Eagle Scout Service Project on Sunday, Jan. 16.

The project requires the Eagle Scout candidate to be a leader in planning, development and leadership in a project that gives service to either his community, school or church.

Kevin Williamson chose a 24-hour Rock-A-Thon held in the troop's meeting room at the old St. Joseph School Building, as his project. At the start of the Rock-A-Thon, he announced that scout-rockers had received $485.65 in pledges. After the scouts collect the funds pledged by their sponsors, the funds will be given to the Tri-City Crippled Children Association.

The project started at 8 p.m. on Saturday and ended at 8 p.m. Sunday. Kevin's project required many hours in planning and developing this project, and the scouts who assisted Kevin spent many hours in securing sponsors for the project. During the hours that the scouts were in rocking chairs, they watched, they played hot potatoes and chair hockey, and also prepared their meals during the Rock-A-Thon.

Kevin is the son of Larry and Virginia Williamson and is a freshman at Granite City South High School. He currently serves the troop as junior assistant scoutmaster. Assisting the Eagle candidate were: State Eagle Kusmierczak Jr., Mark Brazel, Mike Brazel, Jose Kusmierczak and Greg Hagen.

This was the second Eagle Scout Service Project in a period of less than two years for the scouts of Troop 7, according to the announcement.

JEWELRY STOLEN

Sherry Feyen, 2207 Edison Ave., told police last week that, while she was away from her apartment for a short time, someone stole several items of jewelry from a wooden box in the bedroom. Missing were a white-gold sweetheart ring valued at $38, a 1975 white-gold class ring worth $65, a gold and pearl birthstone ring costing $40, and a white-gold engagement ring with diamond chips.

SIUE registration up, but some unable to pay

Registration for winter quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville increased by nearly 100 over last year, but final enrollment — the number of students who paid their tuition and fees — is about the same as last winter, according to the Office of Admissions and Records.

Eugene Magac, director of the office, said enrollment is 9,371, compared with 9,401 for Winter 1982. The number of 30 students is approximately 3.01 percent.

Magac said he believes the fact that 624 persons who registered were unable to pay their tuition and fees is a reflection of the prevailing economic conditions. "Normally, no more than 300 persons who register would fail to pay," Magac stated.

The admissions director also indicated there are major increases in the numbers of part-time and transfer students for winter quarter. Part-time enrollment increased by more than 500 to a total of 3,700 and the number of new transfer students increased from 253 last year to 332 this year.

For the first time in several years, the number of men attending the university exceeds the enrollment of women. The figures for winter quarter are 4,744 men and 4,627 women.

Enrollment in the School of Business is 130 more than last winter to a total of 1,362, while enrollment in the School of Science and Engineering increased by 63, from 657 last year to 720 this winter. Other schools report slight enrollment declines.

Total enrollment by classes is: freshmen, 1,833; sophomore, 1,649; junior, 1,827; senior, 2,065; unclassified undergraduate, 111; graduate, 1,659; and professional, 207.

Course offered on home remodeling

A non-credit class in home renovations and additions will be offered at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville beginning tonight.

Sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education, the course will be taught by Mike Guerra, chief architectural draftsman in Plant Operations at the university. Classes are scheduled to meet on Thursdays from 7 until 9 p.m. in Room 3302 of Peck Classroom Building. Registration is $35.

The course will focus on building design and engineering, with an emphasis on layout and design, building materials, estimating project costs, and techniques for either self-construction or subcontracting the job.

Other topics will include: heating, plumbing, electrical work, framing, concrete work, waterproofing, and finishing walls, carpets, windows and doors.

Guerra said coursework will include information relating to newer homes, as well as older ones, and should be of interest to anyone interested in learning how to derive more space from an existing home. The lectures will include information on the addition of garage, porches, bedrooms or family rooms, as well as the remodeling of kitchens, bathrooms and bedrooms.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Office of Continuing Education at 1-892-3210.

SEEN ON LEVY, FACES CHARGES

James D. Gaddo, 19, of 1001 Washington Ave., Madison, was arrested by Madison County Sheriff's deputies last week and charged with criminal damage to state-supported property.

Authorities allegedly saw Gaddo driving a motorcycle on the east side of the levy where signs are posted that prohibit riding vehicles on the grass. A deputy alleged that he asked Gaddo if he knew he was not supposed to ride his vehicle on the grass. When Gaddo said he was aware of the law, he was arrested and taken to the Madison County Jail.

Courts terminate 4,126 Dec. cases

The volume of pending cases in Circuit Court, Third Judicial Circuit (Madison and Bond counties), decreased during December by 317 cases and progress was made in catching up currency in nearly every category, including time-consuming large lawsuits and felonies.

According to the circuit's report to the Supreme Court Administrative Office, 3669 cases were filed and 4,126 cases were terminated during December.

In releasing the report, Willard V. "Butch" Portell, circuit clerk, noted, "As usual, this is a slow month in filing because of the holidays. There was a significant gain in almost all categories with special note of the large jury law division, where 60 cases were filed and 148 were terminated for a very significant gain."

There also is a gain of 10 cases in the felony division, which has steadily been kept up to date," Portell said, noting that he and the chief circuit judge, A.A. Matosian are satisfied with December court activities.

Following are the numbers of each major type of case filed, terminated and pending at the end of December.

In the traffic division, 2,175 new cases were filed during December and 2,427 were terminated, the report shows.

Of the 72 felony defendants whose cases were heard during the month, 47 were convicted of felonies, eight charges were dismissed or consolidated with other cases and 14 were reduced to misdemeanors. One defendant was acquitted by the court and two were acquitted by juries.

Guiltily pleas during December included one for murder, two for Class X felonies, two for Class One felonies, 11 for Class Two felonies, 21 for Class Three felonies and nine for Class Four felonies.

Point of View

Music on 'Hill Street'

By DON FREEMAN

There is, I think, in "Hill Street Blues" an intriguing constant, a setting of the mood with its own peculiar flavor. It is the music which is so deftly contrapuntal to the action, the music composed by Mike Post, the jazz blues with its big-city beat. It is music with the sound of pavement and, perhaps, hard times.

"The music soothes me, when I hear it," says Bruce Weitz, who is Mick Belker in the show. "There's a melancholy to it that hits me just right. And it's used so sparingly and, sometimes, unexpectedly. I can't think of any other music that would be nearly as effective. It seems that the music and the show are a part of each other. I like that."

Bruce Weitz is small of stature, compact, athletic, and he has obviously made an imprint as Belker the biter, the grubbier of the undercover cops on the Hill. It's a terrific role and Weitz enjoys analyzing its nuances.

"We're talking here about a man who does maybe one thing well in his life — and that's being a cop. It's his life. If he didn't do that well, God knows what he would do. We get these glimpses of his humanity but they are just glimpses. He won't allow us more than that. And that's what I'm working with as an actor."

I suggested to Weitz that Belker, of all the tough guys in the precinct, strikes me as the toughest, the one on whom I would bet the mortgage in a free-for-all. Never mind the fact that he would be up against the big six-footers — Belker, I do believe, would take them all, one by one. I mean, this man is tougher than three nights in a south Georgia jail.

Weitz grinned. "In every police precinct, I hear now, they've got a Belker kind of guy, a biter or a kicker, a guy who's growling at the bad guys and calls them awful names."

"Speaking as an actor, the stuff that I get to do in the show is choice. There are 14 characters in 'Hill Street,' and too much of Belker could be boring. He could wind up a big pain. There's a lot of guys in the world with a lot of frustration and hostility coursing through their veins — some of the hostility is against authority or whatever. Belker lets it all out. I see Belker, and not everyone would agree with this assessment, as a moral man in an amoral society."

Weitz, who is from Norwalk, Conn., and spent his teen years in Miami, studied acting at Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh. He picked up a master's degree there and he met Steve Bochco, a fellow student, who would become a writer out in Hollywood and eventually the co-creator and co-producer of "Hill Street Blues."

"Bochco knew me in college," Weitz says. "He saw the anger and frustration I showed back then. I wasn't able to channel it very well in those days. I used to fight a lot."

"What kind of fights?" I asked.

"Bar fights, mostly. I had a desire to lose."

"How do you know that?"

"Because," he says, "I always fought guys who were lots bigger than I was. But I don't do that anymore. I don't fight anybody anymore."

"Why is that?"

"I grew up," Weitz said.

For 15 years, Weitz worked in the theater, some of the time on Broadway. He performed in 13 Shakespeare-in-the-Park productions for producer Joseph Papp. "You can't make any money in the New York theater," Weitz says. "You can make a living but that's about it. It wasn't until I hit Los Angeles that I made any money as an actor. In television, I played doctors, lawyers, CPAs, young, clean-cut guys — but boring, uninteresting characters. And then 'Hill Street' came along."

"Now I hope that 'Hill Street' catches on with the public. A number of people complained that our stories were mixed up, confused. Now we're doing one story in every show that has a beginning, a middle and an end. We won all those Emmys and that made people realize who we were. We're not for people who watch TV and try to read at the same time. You have got to pay attention to what's going on."

"Now we've got all this pressure to maintain the quality. People hear about all the awards we got and they look at us through a microscope. But I think we're up to it."

By JANE CLIFFORD

"I don't have a thing to watch," frets many a cable subscriber.

Yet, according to Thomas Wheeler, president of the National Cable Television Association, at last count there were 43 cable-only program services on the air — not to mention all the broadcast stations available — from which local cable operators could choose programming for their subscribers.

"People don't want to watch more TV, they want to watch better TV," says Warren Mobley, general manager of TM Cablevision of San Diego County.

"If there's a 24-hour station on bird calling, nobody's gonna watch it," mused Fred Silverman, former CBS, NBC, ABC executive. He made a rare public appearance at the recent National Cable Programming Conference in Los Angeles to tease the industry with plans for his own cable network, dubbed Magicable.

"The greatest opportunity for improvement and growth lies in the entertainment sector," he said. "Cable has scored best with motion pictures. But the state of the rest of the entertainment sector is abysmal. The rest is the 82nd run of 'Gilligan's Island' and 'The Beverly Hillbillies.'"

Viewers have high expectations for cable TV and that doesn't include reruns of network reruns.

"For the amount of money they're paying," said Mobley, "they want to be able to see something they want to see."

"If they see something they don't like on broadcast television, they slough it off and think of it as 'them,' but with cable it's 'us,'" said Bert Edwards, a cable industry veteran. "They feel more ownership of the cable system because it's a community thing."

The problem, according to industry observers, is availability. Scheduled to begin in 1983 is new programming such as The Disney Channel and Penthouse, planned for pay TV, and the country-Western lovers Nashville Network and The Silent Network programming for the hearing-impaired on basic cable. All address the "narrow-casting" ability boasted by cable TV — targeting programming for sectors of the viewing audience — yet the industry still cites mass-draw movies as the one successful program area in cable.

Home Box Office, which celebrated its 10th anniversary in November, was the first cable programming service to use satellites, beaming its uncut movies across the country. That use of the technology opened the floodgates. Ted Turner and other innovators developed and sold programs for basic cable.

As it is now, many services are free to cable operators. Some services even pay operators as an incentive to take the programming. But if their service isn't interesting, nobody watches. And if nobody watches...

At the Cable Programming Conference, the main topic of discussion was luring more advertisers to cable. The sponsors not only would provide more money for the production of programs but also would help many of the services toward breaking even.

Data from Paul Kagan Associates Inc., a cable industry research firm, reports that ESPN, for instance, charges a cable system 4 cents a month for each subscriber to the system when ESPN programming is added. Then ESPN turns around and pays the operator 10 cents a year per subscriber, based on the total number at that time. Simple math tells you if the system adds thousands of subscribers during the year, ESPN could end up making very little money from the operator.

Satellite News Channel, in an effort to crack CNN's hold on cable news viewers, offers its service free to operators and kicks in a dime for every subscriber once a year.

Advertisers — not yet convinced the viewers are there — have not made large-budget commitments to cable TV. If that trend continues, many of the services could disappear, as in the case of CBS Cable. The fact that a media giant couldn't succeed at its own game with a highly acclaimed cultural programming service makes everyone else in the business a little nervous.

"Very few are making money," said Robert McRann, general manager of Cox Cable San Diego. "If some of them go belly-up, we have no choice but to pull them off."

Cable operators, more than ever, attempt to pick and choose what best serves their individual subscribers and has the potential to make it.

"We've been careful here at Times-Mirror with our programming decisions," Mobley said. "We haven't said, 'Here's a channel, let's fill it.' It's not determined on channel availability, but on the availability of quality programming."

"There just isn't that much quality programming out there," said Johnnie Cline of Televents in Coronado, Calif., who expects to add only the 24-hour Christian Broadcast Network to subscribers' basic service in the immediate future.

"There aren't 35 good channels," echoed Cascade Cablevision's John Wendt, whose 35-channel system is roughly half-full. He plans to add USA Network to the lineup, since folks "are highly sports-minded in the Pauma Valley (Calif.)" and change the only pay service to Home Box Office because "they're not too happy about" The Movie Channel.

"A lot of the programming decisions I make now rely very heavily on the most recent audience survey," said Watson. "We've got to know the subscribers think they're getting their money's worth. It's a careful time these days."

'Potsie' bitten by producing bug

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — After becoming a household word as Potsie on the long-running ABC series "Happy Days," ANSON WILLIAMS now says he's going to be devoting "70 percent of my time to producing and 30 percent to performing."

Anson was bitten by the producing bug after he and RON HOWARD, who became fast friends on the "Days" set, producing the award-winning TV movie "Skyward." Anson and Ron are developing projects together and apart.

Among the properties awaiting an audience are a Broadway musical, which Anson co-wrote, and an NBC series which he described "as a modern 'Our Gang,' but more dimensional."

"Money is not the only objective," Anson explained. "The money will come from the concert dates, the acting. Producing can be more satisfying. There are things you can say, projects that have meaning in my heart."

He has stuck with "Days" for the exposure and the salary, though. This season he'll appear on six episodes, which suits him, "because they can spend more time making them good. The ones I do now are better written."

He also spends time touring the country, singing his heart out, but recently canceled weeks of lucrative concert gigs to produce the NBC pilot, letting it be known where his priorities are.

But those who want to see Anson perform can also catch an upcoming "Fantasy Island" segment, in which he plays an aspiring composer who wants to find the grandfather-songwriter he never knew.

Off the set, Anson and LORRIE MAHAFFEY are one of the glitter capital's sweetheart couples. Lorrie, also, is busy pursuing a career behind the cameras. They enjoy working together er and do so from time to time.

Paramount wants to go into production with "Star Trek III" this spring and is negotiating with none other than LEONARD NIMOY aka Mr. Spock to direct the feature. Nimoy recently cut his director's teeth by helming an episode of "T.J. Hooker," which stars his enterprise captain, WILLIAM SHATNER.

Also on the feature scene, MICHELLE PHILLIPS, a former member of the Mama's and Papa's, rock group, is trying to put together a feature on the group. JOHN PHILLIPS, her former husband, has been touring with a new Mama's and Papa's, which includes his daughter MACKENZIE PHILLIPS, DENNY DOHERTY and SPANKY MCFARLAND. The new will portray the old.

The awards pundits in Hollywood are taking early bets that LOU GOSSETT JR. walks away with an Academy Award for his work in "An Officer and a Gentleman." That's the early line.

What's this? Could it be that after all the bitterness JOHN SCHNEIDER and TOM WOPAT will return to "The Dukes of Hazzard" before the season is over? That's the scuttlebutt.

Word is also that CBS has BILL BIXBY and MARIETTE HARTLEY lined up for a sitcom.

And BOB DENVER is making a movie-pilot in which he plays a mad scientist "helping" a female journalist known as the Invisible Woman.

Hollywood Strip

'Fame' brought him fame

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — His face is quickly emerging from the pack as one of the most talented performers on NBC's new series, "Fame."

LEE CURRERI portrays the shy, musical Bruno, and finds the series "gives me an opportunity to explore the character more than I did in the movie. Besides, I get to write music for the show."

Yes, Lee's face is recognizable because he is resuming the role he created in the film version. He insists that the transition from film to TV wasn't that difficult either for him as a performer or for "Fame" as a concept.

"For a production number it took two weeks to do the 46th Street scene in the movie," Lee remarked. "But we do the same thing now in one day for TV, and I don't think there's a loss of quality."

But his participation in the TV series will be distinguished by the songs he has written for it. Among the titles you'll hear are "Alone In A Crowd," "Be My Music" and "Could We Be Magic." It will all undoubtedly lead to success in two avenues of the performing world.

"Before I did the movie it was all music in my life," he explained, noting that he was arranging when he was 13. "I had my own band."

"In the sense of the music, I am Bruno, only he's isolated. Bruno rejects what he perceives as old-fashioned ways, but I think we should have violins. I'm not as cloistered."

Lee, who is the son of two Westchester County, N.Y., schoolteachers, knew early on what he wanted. As a youth he was "into jazz." By age 16, he had left home and was living in Manhattan while attending the Mannes College of Music. Soon he was working so steadily in the business that he had to quit classes.

"Performing has always pleased me," he added. "I'm more at home with recording, whether it's for film or tape. You have a lot more control."

LORETTA YOUNG was Lee Curreri's age when she got her start, and the Academy Award-winning star has just announced a return to TV.

Young has agreed to star in two movies for TV. Reportedly, she'll portray the first woman president in one and Mother Angelica, a pioneer in satellite broadcasting, in the other.

The projects were chosen because they represent women of the world, according to a spokesperson.

What's loyalty? That's what ROBERT CONRAD wants to know.

JOEY HEATHERTON has hit the book market. She's put together a book on health and exercise that will be sold to a publisher any day now. Joey demonstrates the exercises herself — a la JANE FONDA in her exercise book.

Will celebrity exercise offerings replace celebrity cookbooks? We'll have to wait and see.

LEE REMICK is said to have her London home for sale so she can make a permanent move back to the United States in time for the Broadway opening of her play, "Agnes of God."
